Children safe after boiler at Sacred Heart School explodes

By PAT FOLEY
of the Press-Record

Wilbur "Webb" Allen, a custodian at Sacred Heart-St. Joseph School, 2600 Jerden Ave., narrowly escaped injury shortly after Monday morning when the gas-fired boiler at the school exploded.

Smoke detectors immediately sounded alarms throughout the building and the staff of the parochial school swiftly and safely evacuated the students seconds after the blast, which caused no injuries.

Not more than 15 seconds prior to the explosion, Allen had left the boiler room through a door near the boiler and had exited a second door about 15 feet away.

No structural damage to the building has been discovered, but the boiler is presently shut down while the cause of the explosion is investigated.

Allen notified the fire department of the explosion and reported that there was no fire and that there had been no injuries. Assistant Fire Chief George Smolich and the shift commander on duty at the time responded to the school for an inspection of the affected area and to determine if a threat of a fire existed at the school. At that time the entire system was shut down.

The children were sent home Monday due to the lack of heat in the building, and did not return to classes Tuesday or Wednesday. Sister Mary Esther, principal of the combined school, said Wednesday afternoon, "We will resume classes on Thursday and we will be using electric space heaters to warm the classrooms."

Damage to the school was confined to the boiler room. The blast threw one large cast-iron boiler door from its hinges and left a similar door hanging from one of its hinges. Two smaller doors were also damaged—one cracked and one was left misaligned due to bent hinges.

The explosion also ripped open a lower panel on the rear of the unit and dislodged some of the fire brick. An automatic damper was blown off of nearby duct work. Amazingly, a deadbolt lock on an outside exit door of the boiler room was blown out of the door without any additional damage to the door.

Allen, closest to the boiler room when the explosion occurred, stated, "The blast wasn't very loud, because I didn't even know that anything had happened until I went outside and saw the children being led from the building."

Smolich said that the exact cause of the explosion is not known, but that it is believed to have been caused by a malfunction in a gas valve which allowed an accumulation of natural gas to build up. He praised the staff at the school for the quick, but orderly, evacuation of the premises.

Several boiler experts were at the school Tuesday, but no immediate cause has been determined. Repairs to the boiler began Wednesday.

President here Monday

President Jimmy Carter will speak behind Memorial Gymnasium on the campus of Granite City High School South at noon Monday, campaign aides announced formally this week.

The speech is considered significant, since it is the last speech he can make which can be shown on prime-time television news the night before the election, according to the Carter-

Mondale campaign coordinator for this area, Dan Kerrigan.

The choice of Granite City for the final speech which will obtain national news coverage may indicate the importance of Illinois and the Madison-St. Clair county area to the president's hopes of re-election. National news commentators have indicated that they believe Illinois is one state Carter will have to carry, if he is to be successful in his bid for re-election.

Kerrigan is quoted as saying, "As you know, Illinois is incredibly crucial to the president."

Polls indicate that President Carter is likely to win in the heavily-Democratic Cook County (Chicago) area, but Republicans may dominate the "collar counties" around Chicago, negating much of the Chicago influence.

Therefore, Carter supporters believe, Southern Illinois may be one of the most critical areas of the most critical state in next Tuesday's presidential election.

Several Democratic presidential hopefuls have stopped in Granite City in the past, including the late John Kennedy, George McGovern and Adlai Stevenson. Vice-presidential contender Edmund Muskie also was among those who stopped in Granite City and President Carter greeted a crowd at the locks in Granite City last year when he toured the Mississippi River on "Steamboat One."

Local Democratic officials are urging a large turnout for the president's visit and numerous Democratic dignitaries have been invited to appear here with the president.

Cloud over Carter steel policy

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

When President Jimmy Carter speaks at noon Monday behind Granite City High School South, many Quad-City area residents whose incomes depend on a healthy steel industry are hopeful that the president will touch on his future policy on steel, a subject which has been under attack by some Republicans recently.

Last month, U.S. Senators John Heinz and Richard S. Schweiker, both Pennsylvania Republicans, made public a document they contend is an internal Carter administration document, branding the domestic raw steel industry "a lemon industry" and, according to the senators, "advocates letting a substantial part of it go down the drain, despite...unfortunate unemployment and community impacts that result."

They charge that the Carter administration commissioned the Battelle Memorial Institute to do a report on the steel industry, and then suppressed the results of that study for nearly 16 months, with no attempt to reject the report or to discredit it.

A copy released by the senators, purported to be a copy of the document in question, recommends, "A rational policy which would allow the (steel) industry to gradually decrease in size, to inaugurate programs to provide transitional relief to displaced workers and depressed communities, and to provide incentives for diverting our resources to more promising industries."

It also states, according to the documents released by the senators, "The steel industry claims that they are facing a capital shortfall of $2 billion per year over the next five years and are requesting a package of government assistance, including regulatory relief, to help them meet their requirements."

"Whether they actually need that assistance depends primarily on how much capacity they will rebuild over the next decade.

"The industry says that it 'must' maintain sufficient capacity to supply 85 percent of the domestic market. To do this will require replacing 25 percent of the industry capacity that is currently obsolete and adding some additional capacity."

"Our analysis indicates that: 1) there is no need to maintain any more capacity than is required for defense purposes; and, 2) to replace our outmoded plants would be foolhardy—based on production costs the U.S. cannot compete in the raw steel market in the future, according to the copy of the document."

It also contends that 85 percent of the capital required over the next five years—approximately $2 billion for modernization and $800 million for environmental control—would be for replacing and modernizing existing plants. "As you know, the steel industry includes a number of very old, outmoded facilities."

"The industry argues that these facilities must be replaced so that the United States can avoid being dependant upon foreign suppliers. They would like to see imports maintained at no more than the 15 percent of domestic consumption, compared with the current level of 18 percent. National security arguments and fears of a steel 'OPDC' seem to stand at the base of their reasoning."

"We argue that the steel industry will

Mobile home ban voted

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Upset over apparent efforts by some families to manipulate mobile home purchases, petitions and permits to minimize city taxation, Granite City aldermen approved first reading Tuesday night for a ban on such homes except in mobile home parks.

Final action is expected at the next council meeting Wednesday night, Nov. 5.

The ordinance, prepared by City Attorney John Pape, stipulates that any newly-placed mobile homes must be confined to multiple mobile home developments whose plans have advanced city approval. No additional isolated mobile homes are to be authorized.

Led by Third Ward Alderman Paul Fisk, council members said there has been frequent misrepresentation about mobile homes.

Such misrepresentation often deludes neighbors into giving their approval, only to learn later that the circumstances or placement details differ substantially from those originally described to them, it was related.

Fisk cited one example in which there were three instances of site purchases by an individual. In all three cases, a different party obtained mobile home installation permits, Fisk said, adding that in one case a third party became the occupant.

He called for legal action against any subterfuges that have occurred, and said the probable motive is property tax avoidance.

Taxes initially are paid on the basis of an unimproved lot; people then pay a kind of personal property tax on a mobile home, meanwhile depreciating it in three years, and then pay 15 cents per square foot of livable space, Fisk told the council.

The aldermen last month said he favored Madison County's approach, in which special use permits can be granted to place a mobile home outside a mobile park for a specified period of time. Since further investigating practices in Granite City, Fisk said Tuesday night, he now favors Pape's approach.

Existing mobile homes are to be protected by a "grandfather clause." Final adoption of the new ordinance required ten votes and achieved only 9-2 support, with Aldermen Mac Warfield and Mike Modruski opposed and Paul Ray Bowler, Charles Douglas and Glen Sprankle absent.

Voting affirmatively were Aldermen Everett Morlen, Fred "Pat" Schuman, Sam Whitmer, Roy Poulos, Fisk, Warren Decatur, Lloyd Bailey, Margaret Nomm and Earl Baker.

The mobile home ban was placed on first reading by a 9-2 vote, this time with Bailey and Warfield dissenting.

Tree of Lights chairman named

Robert Henry Karandjeff will be the chairman of the Christmas 1980 Salvation Army Tree of Lights campaign in the Quad-City area, it was announced today. He is executive vice-president and cashier of the American Heritage Bank of Granite City.

A $32,000 goal has been set for the annual drive to finance holiday season food baskets and clothing.

Announcement of the campaign chairman was made by Bruce Mort, chairman of the local Salvation Army advisory board.

The kickoff luncheon is planned for Tuesday, Nov. 25, at the Salvation Army community center on East 23rd Street.

Guest speaker will be Champ Summers, Madison High School graduate who starred in Quad-City area baseball leagues. Now a resident of Tempe, Ariz., Summers is a home-run-hitting outfielder for the Detroit Tigers of the American League.

SENATOR CHARLES PERCY addresses a group of area businessmen at a non-partisan reception in his honor at Charlie's Restaurant Wednesday afternoon. He made the stop here to garner additional support for the Republican party prior to the Nov. 4 election. Questions aimed at the senator included such topics as the steel and auto industries and the future of revenue sharing funds.

not need that much capital, because it will not need to replace outmoded raw steel capacity," the reports state, with the sentence underlined.

It adds that domestic steel does not need to meet 85 percent of the nation's steel demand in order to meet potential demand.

It also states, "Our analysis indicates that a steel mill in the United States would have about an $80 per finished ton, or 20 percent, cost disadvantage when compared with a Japanese mill.

"Add to this the realization that the Japanese and the Germans have decided to get out of the raw steel business because they think that they cannot compete with the less-developed countries in the long run, and the position of the United States producers looks even worse," according to the report.

It also contends that the high costs involved in meeting the 1982 clean air and 1984 clean water statutes are due to the industry "postponing their expenditures until the last minute, such as business development officer and in October 1977 was elected vice-

"I recommend that you press for steel policies which provide reasonable transitional relief, but do not subsidize new mills," the report stated in another underlined sentence.

It summarizes, "The steel industry is obviously in trouble, but the solution is not to provide the industry with a guaranteed market share. Except for that portion needed for our defense purposes, the industry should be left to compete with our other industries for capital resources.

"Such a policy will most likely lead to the gradual decline of the industry and the unfortunate unemployment and community impacts that result. The transition will be painful, but not nearly as painful as the depressed state of the economy that would result from continually having to prop up a lemon industry."

Senators Schweiker and Heinz said the document was prepared by Assistant Administrator William Drayton Jr. of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) for submission to Administrator Douglas Costle.

Since its preparation, the report has been suppressed, the senators said, and they concluded, "Despite the president's election-year rhetoric about revitalizing domestic industries, the attempt to hide the Battelle report from public view strongly suggests that the Carter administration is holding firm to an unjustifiable policy of 'Let the steelworkers' jobs be damned.'

"The study the Carter administration has tried to keep under wraps contains convincing evidence that its regulatory policies have imposed, and will continue to impose, staggering costs on capital-starved metals industries. Data in the study confirms that the metals industries, especially steel, are hurt far more by incremental control costs than other industries reviewed," according to Schweiker and Heinz.

"It demonstrates that efforts to force industries which have already achieved high levels of pollution control to even higher levels are highly questionable in terms of cost-effectiveness," they added.

The handling of this study raises serious questions about the administration's good faith in dealing with the steel industry. It belies the administration's rhetoric about concern for the jobs of steelworkers.

"We think the EPA's inexcusable action is part of a pattern which inescapably points to a clear Carter administration policy of indifference to the further deterioration of the already heavily-burdened steel industry," according to a joint press release by Schweiker and Heinz.

Vance Sheldon, 56, 1009 Logan Ave., Venice, discovered at 4:50 p.m. Wednesday that his residence had been entered, ransacked and burglarized. Items taken included $50 in change and a .22-caliber revolver. Forced entry was made.

included seminars on stress, rape prevention, arthritis, diabetes and a singing clinic.

Community response over the past several months has been strong enough to encourage additional seminars. St. Elizabeth Medical Center is now planning seminars to begin early in 1981. The community seminar dealing with adoption distress will be presented in mid-January and the mid-life crisis will be held in February.

Based on his own experience, Sanders' seminar concentrated on how disabled persons can live with their disability and lead a more productive, rewarding and independent life. Sanders also demonstrated techniques he has developed to assist the handicapped person in his daily life. This includes several household gadgets he has developed for the disabled.

Gov. Thompson here Friday

Illinois Governor James Thompson will deliver a speech at 4:30 p.m. Friday at the Nameoki Village Shopping Center, near the Cinema, following his attendance at the groundbreaking ceremonies of the first coal gasification plant in East Alton.

The plant is to be built adjacent to the Wood River Generating Station of Illinois Power Co. at East Alton, and is designed to process 600 tons of high sulfur Illinois coal per day and produce clean, low-BTU fuel to serve an existing 50 megawatt, power generating unit there.

The $135 million coal gasification plant, to be called Kingas Commercial Module, will be owned and operated by a subsidiary of Allis-Chalmers Corp., which developed the system. Illinois Power Co. is the host utility and one of a number of associates of Allis-Chalmers in the firm's coal gasification program.

David C. Scott, chairman, chief executive officer and president of Allis-Chalmers, said that final approval for the go-ahead has been given by the steering committee representing Allis-Chalmers, the state of Illinois and 12 utilities that have pledged their support to the program over the next five years.

Allis-Chalmers increased its financial support of the project from $20 million to about $80 million. This completes the project's funding requirements and permits construction to begin, Scott said.

Other funds for the project are being made available by the state of Illinois, which has confirmed an $18 million grant, electric utilities and other interested parties. The $135 million projected plant cost includes the first two years of operation.

Motivation for handicapped stressed at seminar session

"Don't think if, think how," was the advice given to disabled persons at the recent community seminar given by St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

The seminar "Rehabilitation through Motivation" was the sixth in a series sponsored by the Medical Center to promote health care awareness in the Metro-East Community.

The speaker at "Rehabilitation through Motivation," Norton Sanders, suffered a disabling stroke in 1962 at the age of 42 and is now one of the foremost lay authorities on rehabilitation of stroke victims.

Based on his own experience, Sanders' seminar concentrated on how disabled persons can live with their disability and lead a more productive, rewarding and independent life. Sanders also demonstrated techniques he has developed to assist the handicapped person in his daily life. This includes several household gadgets he has developed for the disabled.

$52,000 fire at lounge

A fire at Mr. Ed's Lounge, 705 Madison Ave., Madison, discovered 7:23 a.m. Tuesday, caused an estimated $35,000 damage to the building and $17,000 to the contents.

The fire is believed to have started from an electrical short-circuit near two coolers behind the bar, according to a fire department spokesman. A fire investigator from the Illinois State Fire Marshal's office was called in as a matter of routine procedure.

Madison Fireman James Shipcoff said, "As I left my house, two blocks away on Sixth Street, I could see the smoke pouring from the building."

Fire Department Lt. Mike Mackel said, "Heading to the fire, smoke blocked my vision on Madison Avenue a block away. One of the first things we had to do is put a couple of holes in the roof to ventilate the building so the smoke would rise up, instead of billowing into the street and to see just what we had going."

The Madison Fire Department responded with three pumpers, their rescue truck and 15 men. The Venice Fire Department was on standby.

Venice and Madison police re-routed southbound traffic on Madison Avenue for about two hours.

Explorer aids in capture of pair in armed robbery

Orlando Wilson, 17, and Gregory Lorenzo Turner, 17, both of East St. Louis, are being held today in the Madison County Jail in lieu of $50,000 bond on a charge of armed robbery.

Credited with the apprehension, according to Madison police, is an officer in Explorer Post 10-4, sponsored by Madison Police Unit 110.

The Explorer, who had just finished securing the group's Halloween attraction, the Haunted Castle, about 10 p.m. Monday, saw the two men on Lee Avenue in Madison, acting in what the Explorer felt was a suspicious manner.

The young Explorer then went to Madison Police Officer Gary Marsala and said, "Are you looking for a couple of guys?" Being told men were being sought in connection with an armed robbery, the Explorer gave the officer their description, location and told them the two were getting into a red Pontiac, probably heading south on Lee Street.

Police stopped the vehicle at Fourth Street and Highland Avenue. A .38 caliber revolver with six live rounds was allegedly found on the passenger side of the front seat.

At 7:37 p.m. Monday, Wilson and Turner, allegedly went up to Steve Buchek, of the 1106 block of Iowa Street, Madison, who was sitting in his parked auto at 10th and Lee Streets.

The pair reportedly displayed a gun and one said, "This is a stickup. Check his pockets." The pair took four quarters and some smaller change and fled on foot, south on Lee Street.

For his alertness and assistance the Explorer is being recommended for a U.S. Secret Service Law Enforcement Assistance Award.

Mrs. Myrtle L. (Anglin) Hamm, 63, of 2751 Washington Ave., a retired employee of Mrs. Seibold's Bake Shop, died at 6:45 a.m. Tuesday, Oct. 28, 1980, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

She had been in ill health for four years and was a patient at the local hospital for two hours.

Mrs. Hamm was born in Dover, Tenn., and had lived in Stewart County prior to moving to this area 30 years ago. She worked as a finisher for the Granite City bakery for 15 years and retired in 1976.

Mrs. Hamm was of the Protestant faith.

Survivors include her husband, Joseph Hamm; two sons, John R. Hamm and Terry O. Hamm, both of Granite City; three daughters, Miss Joann Hamm, Granite City, Mrs. Charlie (Hattie Sue) Michaels, Grayville, Ill., and Mrs. Michael (Flora) Buckingham, Granite City; four sisters, Mrs. Sonny (Birdie) Stockman, Granite City, Mrs. Billy (Dorothy) Cockrell, Mrs. Major (Annette) Boyd and Mrs. Grady (Lella) Bell Richardson, all of Dover, Tenn.; one brother, Herman Anglin, Dover; 13 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Visitation was on Wednesday at Mercer Mortuary, 1416 Niedringhaus Ave., where her remains were taken to Angel Funeral Home, Dover, where services will be conducted at 10 a.m. Friday, Oct. 31. Burial will be in Hart Cemetery, Dover.

Navajo minister to speak here

On Sunday, Rev. Fred Yazzie from Farmington, N.M., will be preaching in the morning and evening worship services.

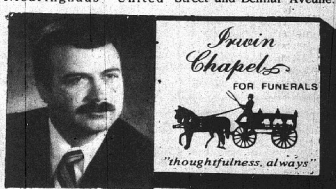

Rev. Yazzie is a Navajo Indian and a fully ordained United Methodist minister. He was a student at the Navajo Methodist School in Farmington where he met his wife Carol.

They have four boys and are living in Farmington during the school year and during the summer months they live on a reservation just southwest of Farmington.

Monday evening, Nov. 3rd, there will be a potluck dinner and Rev. Yazzie will show slides and answer questions about the church and Indian culture of the Navajos.

Most of the Rev. Yazzie's adult life has been spent ministering to the Navajo community on a reservation. The public is invited, according to the Rev. Louis Fricks, pastor of Methodist Church, 20th Niedringhaus United Street and Delmar Avenue.

GC Steel nominated for water treatment award

Nomination for the "Outstanding Achievement Award for an Industrial Pollution Control Program" has been received by the Granite City Steel Division of National Steel Corporation. The GCS program was one of only five facilities in Illinois placed in nomination by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency.

The award winner will be announced in April 1981.

A two-man inspection team from the State EPA recently visited the GCS plant to inspect the waste water treatment facility and its operating program. They were John J. Forneris, manager of Region Five of the Water Pollution Control Division, and Harris J. Chien, manager of Region One. They also inspected the environmental laboratory of the environmental quality control department, located on the South Plant premises.

In announcing Granite City Steel's nomination for the award, William H. Busch of the Illinois EPA, Division of Water Pollution Control, said, "Your company and employees should consider this quite an honor, as your plant was one of only five nominated from the many facilities considered statewide."

"The purpose of the annual awards is to emphasize the relationship between a quality waste water treatment and clean streams and to give public recognition and encouragement to industries who have developed their waste water treatment and pollution control program in an especially effective manner," Busch said.

After hearing of the GCS nomination, Granite City Steel President James V. Stack said, "We certainly consider it an honor to be chosen as one of the top five industrial water treatment in the State of Illinois. It's good to know that the Illinois EPA has recognized some of the money and effort that have been spent in our effort to clean up waste water discharge."

GCS Vice President of Environmental Control Dr. John G. Manda added,

"We're proud to be able to say that the water we put into Horseshoe Lake is definitely cleaner than the water we take out of the Mississippi River and use for cooling purposes."

"Constant monitoring of the operation of our waste water treatment plant by employees is costly, but they do a good job of making sure the equipment operated as it was designed to operate," Manda explained.

Granite City Steel uses about 70 million gallons of water per day for its various operations — mostly for cooling purposes. Water is circulated as many as five times in its journey through the plant, and some 25 million gallons of water per day are brought in from the river and discharged into Horseshoe Lake after treatment and removal of impurities.

If the daily water supply were being delivered in 60-foot-long railroad cars, each with a capacity of 10,000 gallons, it would make up a railroad train stretching from Granite City almost to Springfield, Illinois.

ARMED ROBBERY UNFOUNDED
A reported armed robbery of Anthony Gregory, 714 West Washington St. Madison, at 3:30 a.m. Monday has proven to be unfounded, authorities said Tuesday. Investigation resulted in the money being returned to Gregory by three men, who were released after Gregory declined to press charges, officers said.

Art workshops for high school students offered

The department of art and design at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will present a series of workshops for area high school students during early November.

The workshops will be held on Saturdays, Nov. 8 and 15, at the Wagner Complex in Edwardsville from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. Registration for either workshop is $5, which includes instruction materials and lunch.

Programming for Nov. 8 includes sessions in fiber-fabric, drawing, sculpture, and multi-media-video art. On Nov. 15, students will have the option to work with ceramics, glassblowing, printmaking or cartooning.

The fiber-fabric workshop will focus on fabric designs, using "dye resist" techniques. Students will experiment with design and color strategies and such resist techniques as batik, plait, and tie-dye. They will also have the opportunity to produce a project of their own, using a particular technique or techniques.

The drawing workshop will explore various approaches to the drawing process. Students will work with different materials, techniques and subject matter.

In the sculpture workshop, students will be introduced to various techniques of sculpture casting, including the processes leading to the actual casting of pieces in cast metals.

The multi-media workshop will focus on the composition of art work which incorporates the use of video tape. Students who wish to take their projects home should bring along their own half-inch VHS cassettes.

Students participating in the ceramics-glassblowing workshop will glaze and raku-fire a pot and clay tile as a project. Demonstrations of glassblowing will also be provided.

The printmaking workshop will deal with the making of monoprints. Students will pursue both additive and subtractive methods of working with color. Graduate students will be on hand to offer assistance to the students in making their own monoprints to take home.

The session in cartooning will consist of a lecture and demonstration on the creation of comic strips, commercial illustration and advertising design.

Deadline for the first art and design workshop is Nov. 5. The deadline is Nov. 12 for the second all-day session. Additional information and registration materials are available from the SIUE department of art and design at 1-692-3071.

Services for GC man, 69

Graveside services were held at 10 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 29, for Frederick Monchamp, 69, of 2013 Madison Ave., Madison.

Mr. Monchamp died Oct. 19, 1980, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

There are no known relatives. The Rev. W. A. Showers officiated at the service held at the Valley View Cemetery, Edwardsville. Mercer Mortuary, 1416 Niedringhaus Ave., was in charge of arrangements.

Arrest two after pursuit

After noticing a pickup truck heading west on Revere's Route, allegedly without its headlights or rear lights operating at 6:50 p.m. Monday, a patrolling officer pursued the vehicle to Northbridge and Maryville Road and arrested the occupants.

Officers alleged two partially-empty bottles of beer were on the truck floorboard and a half-full bottle of wine was behind a seat.

Carry D. Mercille, 19, and Terry W. Skaggs, 20, both of Collinsville, were arrested and the vehicle was impounded.

Mercille was charged with being a minor in possession of alcohol, driving without headlights, illegal transportation of alcohol and not ever having obtained a driver's license. He was released at 9:15 p.m. Monday on payment of a $102 cash bond.

Skaggs was charged with being a minor in possession of alcohol and illegal possession of alcohol in a vehicle and was released on payment of a $35 cash bond at 10:50 p.m. Monday.

Ministers will confer

The Quad-Cities' Ministerial Alliance will hold its November meeting on Monday, Nov. 3.

"Keeping a finger on the pulse of community needs and resources is a vital part of the ministry," according to a spokesman for the local area-wide ministerial group.

The Rev. Don F. Pierson, "Maintaining fellowship with pastors from a wide variety of persuasions is also helpful to the pastor, and increasing professional skills is another aspect of our alliance."

The group is open to clergy from Madison, Pontoon Beach, Venice, Mitchell and Granite City.

The monthly meetings are held on the first Monday rotating from church to church. The Nov. 3 meeting will be held at Trinity Methodist Church, where the Rev. Paul Bryant, president of the Ministerial Alliance, is the host pastor.

Women of the church will serve a light lunch to the group.

Engineer, inspection cars sought

As the Granite City fire department acquires new equipment, its older vehicles continue to attract the interest of other city departments.

The city engineering department proposed Tuesday night that it use a fire department van as a surveying vehicle. It estimated that engine and other repairs would cost $800.

On Aug. 19, the city inspection department asked for a fire department rescue truck to be used in transporting CETA Comprehensive Employment and Training Act workers to alleviate health hazards and to pick up debris downtown and at shopping centers and alleys. The request was renewed Tuesday night.

The Fire and Water Committee noted that it is continuing to study such requests, and both proposals were referred to it for a future recommendation to the City Council.

In approving an Oct. 28 bill list and Oct. 30 payroll, the aldermen voiced dissatisfaction with overtime payments to a city-employed Teamster who uses a sanitation truck to drive CETA workers to job sites. Due to a payroll clerk's illness, resulting in an incomplete earlier payroll, the overtime authorized for payment Tuesday night covered four weeks instead of two and totaled $405.

City Inspector Emerald Dawes agreed to study whether a different vehicle can be used and a different driver-supervisor assigned, so that overtime pay can be avoided.

Dawes noted that the CETA staff works day during the summer but now reports for duty after school for a work period that extends beyond inspection employees' normal hours. Supervision of the staff is required, he told the council.

The inspector said he would be willing to see the CETA program eliminated by the city, if the aldermen so decide, but he added his opinion that the services performed are helpful to residents.

Council members participating in the discussion included Paul Fisk, Lloyd Bailey, Roy Poulos and Warren Decatur.

In another discussion, it was noted that part-time workers earn higher hourly pay than some full-time employees, but do not receive insurance and other benefits.

The fringe benefit factor was pointed out by Alderman Sam Whitner, who served as the presiding officer in the absence of Mayor Paul Schuler.

Mayor Schuler was in Chicago on city business. City Clerk Robert Stevens said in calling the meeting to order.

It was decided to change the Nov. 4 council meeting to 7:45 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 5, due to next Tuesday's general election.

Charge man in theft of rings

William B. Garrison Jr., 22, of 1537 E. 20th St., was charged with felony theft in an informational document issued Monday by the Madison County state's attorney's office.

The charge relates to the alleged stealing of two rings, valued at $350, from Michel's Jewelry, 1824 State St., at 4 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 25, and Garrison's subsequent arrest at 20th and Iowa streets later the same day, after he allegedly tried to sell the rings at another jewelry store in Granite City.

Garrison pleaded innocent in an appearance before a judge at 3:30 p.m. Monday. Bond was set at $2,500 cash and a mittimus was issued. He was transferred to Madison County Jail at 5:25 a.m. Tuesday.

SIUE education leads to career at mapping agency

Sharon Hawk of Edwardsville, Brenda Ropac of Granite City and Carl Dixon of Godfrey have chosen a highly specialized career field that rarely gets media attention, but one that rates high in the current marketplace. The three graduates of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville are cartographers.

A rather simplistic definition of a cartographer is a "maker of maps." Yet there is nothing simple about the duties and responsibilities being carried out by these people now employed by the Defense Mapping Agency Aerospace Center (DMAAC) in St. Louis.

Aeronautical charts, digital data, flight information publications, space mission charts, and technical data are but a few of the many products and services provided by DMAAC to the nation's armed forces, manned space program, and allied governments, according to David Black, public affairs officer for the agency.

Just how did these young people get attracted to such a career field? Probably because they found that geography has taken new directions.

Noble Thompson, associate professor of earth sciences, geography and planning at the university, said that geography (where the cartography program is located) is no longer content to merely describe where faraway places are and what they look like.

Today's geographer also considers where things should be in order to provide the most amount of good for the most people. "We don't have much to say about where the mountains are," Fred Lampe, another associate professor in the SIUE academic department, said, "but, in the whole realm of human activities, there are critical choices to be made."

Some of those choices greatly impacting on the quality of human life include such critical issues as the placement of new housing, developments, airports, power plants, schools and highways.

Miss Ropac was a non-traditionalist in earning her college degree. Instead of being a late starter or "adult learner," Miss Ropac was an early beginner, taking courses at SIUE six months before finishing high school.

The ambitious Granite City resident completed the requirements for her undergraduate degree in geography at SIUE in 3½ years and is currently working toward a master's degree.

Miss Ropac tailored her college studies after DMAAC's job descriptions and qualification requirements. "I had already decided on geography," she said, stating that she fully intended to go to work for one of the regional federal agencies long before she graduated.

Once they are hired, employees at such agencies as DMAAC are encouraged to keep abreast of the changing technology through additional education. For example, changes in cartography alone during the past 10-20 years are phenomenal. "Fifteen years ago, cartography did not deal very much with computers. Today almost everything they are doing has computer involvement," Black said.

DMAAC provides its employees with several options for keeping up with the changes and broadening their knowledge base in mapping, charting and geodesy. One option allows employees, on a competitive basis, to go to school on a full-time long-term basis at distant campuses. They also have the option of attending classes relevant to their work at nearby universities. And finally, the agency operates an in-house education program.

DMAAC became extremely interested in SIUE graduates in 1977 when the agency needed more than 350 cartographers for its cruise missile project. Today, the hiring continues, and two cartographer specialists from DMAAC are serving as instructors for the SIUE graduate program — one in computer graphics and the other in aerial photography interpretation.

Pack 24 takes nature hike

Cub Scout Pack 24 from Johnson School took a hike along the nature trail from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville to Lake Drive in Ponton Beach, last week.

The scouts collected leaves to mount and identify to earn credit for collections in their scout books and they also will receive a patch for taking part in the hike.

Those attending from Den 8 were Chris Kamacho, Danny Gledendinning, Timmy Grubbs, David Lando, Jason Glasco, Phillip Cruse, John Douglas, Andrew Wolfe, Steve Hull and Michael Moore.

From Den 3 were, Aaron Gobble, Todd Utz, Brook Marion, Michael Ahlers, Danny White and Matthew Caldwell and Den 7, George Kamacho, Marty Marron and James Torti.

Den leaders, parents and friends assisting with the project were Vicki Hergert, Tawny and Michael Gledendinning, David Lando, Alfred Gobble, Michael Marion, Robert Reeves and Carol Hull.

News notes

Retiring Senator Adlai Stevenson (D) continues to hint that he will run for governor in 1982.

An index measuring urban economic and social conditions rates East St. Louis last in the nation.

Illinois school pupils are preparing to vote Nov. 4 on selecting a state animal. Candidates are the red fox, opossum, white-tailed deer, fox squirrel, raccoon and ground squirrel, and a write-in campaign is backing the skunk.

GEOGRAPHY'S NEW DIRECTIONS include careers in mapping. Left to right are Brenda Ropac of Granite City, Carl Dixon of Godfrey and Sharon Hawk of Edwardsville carrying out the responsibilities of their jobs as cartographers at the Defense Mapping Agency Aerospace Center in St. Louis.

Rule that sales tax on coupons is illegal

The Illinois Department of Revenue is reminding retailers that it is now illegal to charge sales tax on any portion of a sale paid for by a newspaper coupon or other non-reimbursed coupon.

As the result of a Sept. 29 Illinois Supreme Court decision which held that retailers may charge a tax only on the amount of money actually received, not on the price of the merchandise before the coupon value is deducted.

The rule does not apply to "vendor" coupons, where the manufacturer or distributor reimburses retailers for the redemption value of the coupon.

Retailers who have continued to charge tax on the value of the newspaper or non-reimbursed coupons and have not refunded the tax to their customers must report such tax as overcollections. Retailers collecting the tax, but not reporting the collections on Department of Revenue tax returns could be subject to serious penalties for such violations of the Retailers' Occupation Tax Act, a spokesman for the Department of Revenue warned.

Retailers who have routinely absorbed all or part of the tax on store coupons, or who have refunded such a tax, may apply for credit memoranda within the current statutory period, if they can show proof that they bore the burden of the tax, the spokesman added.

Those having specific questions about the change may contact the Illinois Department of Revenue, Taxpayers' Service Unit, Springfield office at 1-217-781-5790, or Chicago office at 1-312-793-3196.

Burglary at Watch Shop

Five watches with a total value of $855 were stolen in a burglary at the Watch and Clock Shop, 3675 Nafneck Road, reported Monday by Walter Schroeder.

Taken from a display case were a $500 pocket watch in a silver case, an open-face pocket watch worth $250, a silver wristwatch valued at $65, an alarm wristwatch worth $95, and a silver self-winding wristwatch valued at $95.

Ghosts and goblins at Chouteau party

Unique costumes ranging from cute clowns, angels, and historical characters to the scary vampires, ghosts, and witches were modeled at the fourth annual Halloween party Sunday at the Chouteau Township Hall by approximately 150 area children and adults who entered the costume judging competition.

Judging was conducted according to four categories by Robert Anderson, sixth grade teacher at Johnson School, Arthur Menendez, principal of Mitchell School, Donna Harwick, from the Press-Record, Gordon Routh, a Mitchell resident and Rose Luebert, resident of Hartford.

Bill St. Peters served as master of ceremonies and Julie Hicks was chairman of the event.

Entertainment following the parade of contestants was provided by John Apperson, Granite City magician.

Also featured was "The Wicked Witch" serving a special drink from her cauldron and two fortune telling booths.

During the afternoon treats were distributed and refreshments served.

Selected winners in the pre-school through kindergarten category were, Scott Reeves, Michelle Lee, Jarrell Manson, Mary Kay Mitchell, Matthew and Laura Knight, Christopher Hunter, Cindy Talley, Jeffrey Winn, Jeremy Jassodowicz and Greg Miller. Receiving prizes in the first, second and third grade division were Chris Wells, Bobby Fithen, Lori Miller, Dawn Rapp, Tiffany Hicks, Ann Marie Mitchell, Amy Thompson, Jennifer Vicks, Kim Merz and Steven Dringer.

Fourth, fifth, sixth grade winners included Denny Winn, Stacey Miller, Jeff Wells, Tim Robinson, Charles Scaggs, Richard Fenoglio, Chris Harper, Bobbi Brandt, Valerie Sorce and Jill Schreiber. Awards in the seventh grade through adult level went to Cindy Castle, Mike Hamilton, Connie Furco of South Roxana, Willie Fenoglio, Janet Timmons, Linda Monson, Pam Miller, Jo Burgener, Velea Belden, Earlene Lee, Angie Belovich and Dawn Dunnavant.

Prior to the traditional party students of Johnson and Mitchell Schools entered a poster contest in conjunction with Halloween. The winning posters were displayed in the township hall for the Halloween party guests to view.

Poster winners from Mitchell School were, Betsy Wells, Denny Winn and Diane Merz, first place, Jamie Crook, Karen Andrews and Dede Gibb, second place.

Johnson School poster winners were, Scott McCoy,

Park plans ski weekend

A skiing trip to Lake Geneva, Wis., will be sponsored Friday, Jan. 16, through Sunday, Jan. 18, 1981, by the Granite City Park District.

Participants will stay at the Lake Geneva Hilton Inn for two nights, where an indoor pool, sauna, game rooms, lounges and a restaurant are featured.

Skiing Saturday, Jan. 17, at the Majestic Ski Area nearby, the excursionists will find ski runs ranging from beginner to expert with snow making machines providing excellent snow conditions, regardless of weather.

Forty-four reservations are available for the trip, which is limited to those 18 years and older.

Cost of the weekend varies depending upon the number of people per room, with rooms set up for quad, triple and double occupancy. The package includes ski rental and there is an optional meal program, a park district spokesman advised.

Reservations will be accepted along with full payment, starting at 9 a.m. Monday, Nov. 3, at the Wilson Park office. Park District residents will have first priority, with non-residents placed on a waiting list, the spokesman said.

Grant toward turning trash into energy

The United States Environmental Protection Agency has awarded a $282,380 grant to the Bi-State Development Agency to begin work on implementing its "Resource Recovery Implementation Project." The grant will cover approximately 30 percent of the cost for this phase of the project, which is estimated to be $1,000,234.

Bi-State recently completed a study of possible solutions to the region's solid waste disposal problems and recommended two projects as most economically and environmentally feasible. The implementation phase of the project, of which this grant is a part, will cover much of the preliminary work leading to the eventual financing of the project.

"The St. Louis metropolitan area generates approximately 8,000 tons of solid waste, trash, daily," said John D. Booth, general manager of development for Bi-State. "The primary methods of disposing of that trash are by dumping it in landfills and, in the case of St. Louis city, burning it in incinerators. The problem is that many of the landfills in the area will soon be filled and the two St. Louis city incinerators are well beyond their useful life and do not comply with environmental standards."

"What all this means," Booth continued, "is that alternative methods must be found soon for the disposal of about half of the trash generated by the region."

The two areas with the most pressing solid waste disposal problems are the city of St. Louis and southern St. Louis and northern Jefferson counties. "We have carefully examined the disposal problems faced by these areas and have recommended construction of two plants to accommodate their needs."

Bi-State plans to construct a steam and electricity generating plant in St. Louis which will receive approximately 1,800 tons of waste per day and convert it into turbine grade steam to be fed into Union Electric's downtown steam heating loop during the winter months and to generate electricity during the peak summer cooling months.

Bi-State plans to construct a second plant in south St. Louis County, which will convert 750 tons of trash per day into a product called fluff refuse derived fuel (RDF) which can be burned along with coal in UE's Meramec generating plant. Booth said both plants will use proven technologies and will be located away from residential neighborhoods. The EPA grant will be combined with funds from the U.S. Department of Energy and Bi-State, and will be used to select plant sites, negotiate contracts for plant construction, sale of the energy and solid waste delivery to the plants.

This phase of the project will entail the drawing of detailed plans for carrying out the later stages of the project; analyzing the solid waste available in detail; updating the economic, technical and environmental impacts of the projects; and setting up a project management plan to oversee completion of the projects. Funding for the actual construction of the plants will come from the sale of tax-exempt revenue bonds and private capital. No public debt or taxes will be imposed.

"The project has some very definite benefits for the entire metropolitan area," Booth said. "When the plants are in full operation, they will provide and economic alternative to our growing disposal problems by eliminating or greatly reducing the spiraling costs of waste disposal in the St. Louis area and they will offer an environmentally more attractive alternative to landfilling."

Seek help in tracking birds

U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service scientists have requested citizen assistance to locate almost 1,000 red-winged blackbirds color-marked in an effort to determine breeding and migratory habits.

A part of the research is intended to aid in reduction of blackbird damage to grain crops.

According to Cal Royall of FWS's Denver Wildlife Research Center, the birds were trapped, banded and marked with either blue or orange plastic tags in Canada last May. Royall asked that the bird sightings be reported to state wildlife conservation officers, or write directly to him, advising of the location, date and number of marked birds spotted. His address is: Building 16, Denver Federal Center, Denver, Colo., 80225.

Cancer Society selling cards

This year the Quad-City Unit of the American Cancer Society is offering two kinds of holiday greeting cards for a $15 contribution for a box of 25 cards. Individual cards may also be purchased for 60 cents a piece.

A traditional Currier and Ives winter scene is featured in addition to a contemporary silver and red embossed foil design. Imprinting available a nominal charge and must be ordered prior to Dec. 3, officers announced.

A flyer is available by calling at the American Cancer Society at 345-7911 or 1-800-642-8084, and at the Collinsville office, 801 West Main Street.

AUTO STRIPPED

The trunk was pryed open, a chain on the hood cut and the car battery, radiator, back seat and car jack were taken from the auto of Rosemary Campbell, 1229 Bissell Ave., Venice, it was discovered Monday by the owner. The car was parked in front of the house.

Organ club planning a yule party

Plans for a Christmas party were discussed during the second meeting of the Granite City Organ Pedalers Club last week.

Burel Schmisser, acting "Grand Pedaler," Henry Coleman, "The Great Chimney-master," Louise Brisk, "The Great Quarter-note and Loretta Siegel, "The Great Composer," were selected "acting officers" for the evening.

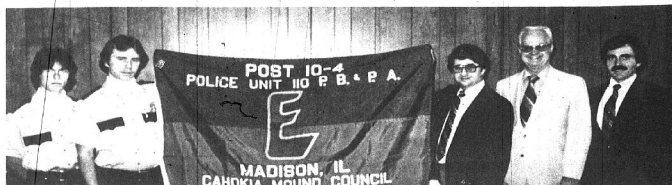

The Christmas party is being planned for Dec. 15. Judy Allison, Alpha Bauer, Carolyn Belling and Henry Coleman volunteered to work on the planning committee. Dorothy Alsop volunteered to play at the party.

Schmisser conducted a clinic on the origin of the Grand Staff and handed out new music to those attending.

A year's dues were paid by new members, Irvin Slate Sr., Emylee Alford, Schmisser, Helen Bowman and Dorothy Alsop. Belda and Ed Edwards and Linda Atkinson had paid their year's dues at the previous meeting.

Keeping with the season, the group enjoyed pumpkin bread, coffee and apple cider. In addition to the new members, those attending were Willa Cooper, Mary Hartman, Alpha Bauer, Carolyn Belling, Elizabeth Novasich, Loretta Siegel, Louise Brisk, Henry Coleman and Judy Allison.

The next meeting will be Nov. 17, at 8 p.m. at 2100 Cleveland Blvd. This will include election of officers. Refreshments will be available at 7:30 p.m. and the public is welcome, Schmisser said.

Mom's Morning Out, kindernastics open

Mom's Morning Out will begin a new session on Nov. 7 at the Tri-City Area YMCA. Classes meet on Fridays from 9 to 11:30 for four weeks.

Christine Stack supervises the program, which includes crafts, music, games, story hour and snacks. The cost for YMCA members is $10 and $15 for non-members.

Also included in the Y's pre-school program this fall is a kindernastics class for 3 to 5-year-olds. Kindernastics meet on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9 to 9:45 a.m. beginning Nov. 4 and also is instructed by Stack. "This class is designed to teach basic motor skills and coordination while having a good time," said Lucy Tuel, the Y's program director.

"It also will be followed by an optional swim class from 9:45 to 10 a.m.," she said.

Registration is being taken at the Y for both classes and is open until one week prior to the first class. More information is available from Mrs. Tuel at 876-7200.

BPW Legislative Night attracts numerous dignitaries

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

U.S. Congressman Melvin Price (D-East St. Louis) was among a large group of distinguished guests at the Granite City Business and Professional Women's annual "Legislation Night" program last week.

About 100 members and guests attending the dinner meeting at Charlie's Restaurant heard Cong. Price state that progress continues to be made in solving environmental problems through the cooperation of government and industry.

Noting there has been "tremendous progress" in the field of environmental protection in the last 30 years, Cong. Price said, "Groups such as yours (BPW) should keep the pressure on industry and the government to hasten the day when all these problems will be solved."

The congressman's remarks followed a presentation by Granite City Steel's Dr. John Manda, Vice-President of Environmental Control.

Dr. Manda said industry accepted the challenge to improve the quality of the environment some years ago and began to meet it with installations of various types, many of which, in design, to conform to new environmental standards.

In the last decade, Granite City Steel has expended more than $44 million in this area, he said, noting that he was responsible for inventing a "pushing emission control system" used on the coke ovens.

The coke ovens, a source of frequent controversy, convert coal into coke at 2,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

Dr. Manda said the company expects to spend between $17 and $25 million in additional funds on various environmental projects before the end of 1982.

CAPTURED during a moment of serious after-dinner conversation at the Business and Professional Women's legislation program are Seventh Ward Alderman Paul Ray Bowler, left, Granite City Clerk Robert Stevens and the latter's wife, Mrs. Valerie Stevens, an active member of the BPW group. Mayor Paul Schuler and City Treasurer Nick Petrillo also were among local and state officials and members of the judiciary attending the event.

He mentioned the new "bag house" which removes particulates from the air, scrubbers, changes in processes at the steelmaking shop, improved internal water treatment and a tower quenching system.

The GCS executive commented, "I don't know what will not have some source of environmental control on it. We are almost to a saturation point," he added.

State Representatives Everett Steele (R-56th District) and Sam Wolf (D-56th District) also addressed the group.

Rep. Steele, who is completing his third term in the General Assembly and is a member of the Energy Resources Commission, spoke about the advantages to Illinois from the coal gasification pilot project, scheduled to start operations Friday, Oct. 31, at the Kings plant in Wood River.

He also mentioned his sponsorship and passage of the Railroad Crossing Bill, which primarily was targeted for this area to eliminate traffic tieups at crossings through the levying of fines on railroads after 10-minute crossing blockages.

Rep. Wolf reviewed the proposed legislative cutback of state representatives, which he said is very misleading to a lot of people and will serve to encourage many more "backroom decisions," should it pass in November.

If approved, the bill would provide only one representative for between 95,000 and 100,000 people, compared to the current 63,000, he contended. The national average is 33,000 per state representative. He urged those present to vote against the proposed state constitutional amendment.

Rosalie Stern, BPW president, welcomed the guests and introductions were made by Betty Roberts, legislation chairman.

Among those who briefly addressed the group, were: Circuit Judge Victor Mosse, chief judge of the criminal division, and Circuit Judges A. A. Mateosian and John DeLaurenti, all from the Third Judicial Circuit.

Also, Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler, City Clerk Robert Stevens, City Treasurer Nick Petrillo, Seventh Ward Alderman Paul Ray Bowler, Third Ward Alderman Paul Fisk, Granite City Superintendent of School B. J. Davis.

Madison County Clerk Willard Portell, County Coroner Dallas Burke, Dr. Felicia Koch, Republican candidate for coroner, A. L. "Pete" Fields, county auditor, James West, Republican candidate for county auditor.

U.S. CONGRESSMAN Melvin Price (D-East St. Louis), left, glances over the program at the Granite City Business and Professional Women's annual dinner at Charlie's Restaurant, as State Rep. Everett Steele (R-56th District) listens intently to some serious views offered by Lois Wetton, BPW past president. More than 100 attended the event which was among several activities of National Business Women's Week.

November is the time to complete garden chores

By CHRIS DOLL
Area Garden Advisor

At this time of year, most garden chores should be completed. But the gardener with a busy fall or a large fruit and vegetable garden may have a few tasks to be performed. These are:

- Mulch strawberries after the plants are dormant but before the temperatures drop below 20 degrees F. This is usually after mid-

November. Mulching will prevent winter injury to the plant and should make for cleaner berries next spring.

- Check for mice populations around fruit trees and plants. Their presence will be noted by tunnels, holes, or nibbled fruit, in which case you will need traps, bait stations, or a good cat.
- Make provisions for controlling mice in fruit and vegetable storage. Warfarin baits are effective as long as the bait is kept dry and available to the rodents.
- Store pesticides in a clean, dry, safe place. Dry materials and powders will retain their effectiveness if kept dry. Liquids should not freeze. Keep storages locked to prevent any accidental openings.

- Clean tools and equipment to prevent rust and corrosion. Make repairs now, so that everything is ready for the first day of spring.
- The southwest side of trunks of young peach, cherry, plum, and apricot trees may be painted with indoor white latex paint (diluted to half-strength with water) to prevent sunscald during the winter. Don't use oil-base paints.
- Destroy insect and disease infested plant material by burning or burying. This includes the mummified fruits on or under peach and plum trees.
- Prune broken limbs or branches for cosmetic purposes. Leave all general pruning of fruit plants for late winter or early spring.

- Add compost or manure to garden for soil improvement.
- Flow or spade the garden for an early start next year.
- Collect soil samples from garden areas that haven't yielded up to expectations or where you need to know the nutritional levels.
- Make provisions for rabbit control. Spray or paint susceptible plants with rabbit repellent, wrap with wire guards or build a fence to keep them out.
- Divide and plant rhubarb if expansion is needed.
- Pull the organic mulch away from the trunk of fruit trees. This may prevent cold injury to the trunk and prevent mouse injury.

COFFEE BREAKS in the early days of St. Elizabeth Hospital often were taken on the hospital steps, as this photograph shows.

SISTER PASCAL TEVES (right), first superior and superintendent of St. Elizabeth Hospital, now known as St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Sisters of Divine Providence Midwest Province began 50 years ago

By JINNY TUETKEN

On Jan. 3, 1931, five women boarded a train in Pittsburgh, Pa., enroute to the Midwest. These women and those who soon followed played a role in the history of Granite City.

Sisters P. Teves, Pachomia Biel, Arnella Sammer and Mathilda Vogler were the first Sisters of Divine Providence to be assigned to the Midwest and the now St. Elizabeth Medical Center. They were accompanied by the Reverend Mother Aloysia, who later returned to Pittsburgh and appointed Sister P. Teves as superior and superintendent of the hospital.

This year, the Sisters of Divine Providence are celebrating the golden anniversary of the founding of their Midwest Province, now based in St. Louis.

The province was established in August 1930 almost 10 years after the first sisters arrived in Granite City. During that time, the province was temporarily under the jurisdiction of the Pittsburgh Province.

The congregation of the Sisters of Divine Providence was founded in 1863 in Mainz, Germany, by Bishop William Emmanuel Baron von Ketteler.

The first U.S. province was founded in 1876 in Pittsburgh. In 1920, officers from the province in Germany arrived in the U.S. to visit the house of the sisters located in Pittsburgh. They decided that the order must continue to grow and expand in the United States.

At about the same time, Father Peter Kaenders, pastor of St. Mark's Catholic Church in Venice, was looking for a religious order to staff St. Elizabeth Hospital, which he had purchased several years earlier.

Father Kaenders had purchased the hospital in 1911 from the Lutheran Hospital Association, which opened the hospital in 1904 but was forced to close it six years later due to financial difficulties.

There were problems that beset Father Kaenders from the beginning. He had difficulty staffing the hospital and, from 1911 to 1921, there were three groups of religious orders which worked in the hospital. These were the Missionary Sisters, Servants of the Holy Ghost, The Precious Blood Sisters, and the Hospital Sisters of St. Francis, from Springfield, who left the hospital in 1918.

From 1918 to 1921, the hospital was staffed by secular and lay help. With the help of friends in St. Louis in 1920, Father Kaenders learned of the Sisters of Divine Providence and persuaded them to purchase the hospital for $50,000 in order to keep his dream of a Catholic Hospital alive.

The sisters were also faced with problems when they arrived, including several unpaid debts and unsanitary conditions.

Frank Schwarzkopf was a driver for Lahey Funeral Home at the time the first nuns arrived to take charge of the hospital and was often a driver for the sisters, taking them to St. Louis for supplies and on outings. He recalled that he was the driver of the car that met the sisters at Union Station in St. Louis the day they arrived.

"The first few years were difficult, but they worked hard and made it pay off," Schwarzkopf said. "Without the hospital in operation, people who were in need of medical care would have had to be driven to East St. Louis."

Mrs. Elizabeth LaVelle was a bookkeeper at St. Elizabeth Hospital the year the nuns arrived. At the age of 16, she began working in the hospital after graduating from the eighth grade at St. Mark's School.

Mrs. LaVelle said Father Kaenders requested that she take the job at the hospital; however, he said, he would be unable to pay her wages.

Mrs. LaVelle was among many staff members who worked without pay or for inadequate wages before the nuns arrived. Many of them worked out of devotion to Father Kaenders or the church.

Due to the understaffing, Mrs. LaVelle said, she often helped with the care of the patients, by answering call lights or reading to the patients when the nurses were busy.

Many times, Mrs. LaVelle recalls, money was borrowed at the request of the pastor from his friends in Granite City, in order to pay the hospital's bills or the wages of some of the employees.

"He would tell me to go to Gus Lohmann or George Reinman and ask for money to cover the bills," Mrs. LaVelle said. "Sometimes they could help and sometimes they couldn't, and we always seemed to just get by."

At that time, the cost of staying in St. Elizabeth Hospital was $14 per week for a room in a ward and $17.50 to $20 per week for private or semi-private rooms.

Because Father Kaenders wasn't able to pay enough people to staff the hospital and keep it in good condition, it was in desperate shape when the Sisters of Divine Providence arrived.

While waiting to be greeted by him, a nurse arrived and told the sisters a train wreck had occurred and they were desperately needed.

The sisters found no linens, no hot water bottles, and had to heat bricks to keep the patients from going into shock. They found that the linens were at the laundry in town. When the clean linens were delivered, it came with a $110 bill for back services.

This was not the first. The sisters found that the hospital was in debt throughout Granite City and had not paid the employees for some time.

Under the burden of unpaid bills, understaffing, inadequate supplies and unsanitary conditions, they began working to revitalize the hospital.

They began by cleaning. The covering on the floor was in such bad condition that it had to be scraped. For the lack of other tools, this was done with pieces of glass.

Much of the work needed in the hospital was done by the nuns themselves. Paint and material for curtains were purchased for the patient rooms.

For some time, the sisters were busy after visiting hours nailing up scaffolding, painting rooms and hanging curtains. But even with the problems faced by the sisters and the staff of the early St. Elizabeth Hospital, they always had time for each other and remained a family. "Everyone cared about each other," Mrs. LaVelle said. "The doctors were interested in everyone at the hospital and always listened to what you had to say."

"The doctors were great," said Schwarzkopf. "Doctor R. W. Binney was a wonderful doctor, and he always had a sense of humor."

"Everyone at the hospital was very good to me. For many years, I was not charged for medical care for me or my family," he said. His wife, Agnes, later became the first vice-president of the Hospital Auxiliary.

One of Schwarzkopf's favorite people at St. Elizabeth was a nun who arrived in 1922, Sister Euphrosine. "She was a very devoted person," he said. "She worked all the time. And when a patient was very ill, she would pray beside their bed all night."

"Sister Euphrosine was from Germany and knew very little English, so she would pray in German."

"She lost one leg during World War I and had a wooden one. During the night, you could often hear her walking through the hospital to check on the patients."

She was well liked by all the doctors and, for some reason, Dr. Binney gave her the nickname of "Corky."

Gradually, conditions began to improve at the hospital. Through donations from many people in the community, the sisters began to get things in order. Dr. L. C. Harlan of Madison donated instruments, and an x-ray machine was purchased by the sisters.

The hospital elevator was powered with electricity obtained from the nearby mill, until a generator could be bought. Bed pans were donated to the hospital by its first woman patient, and the Altar Society of St. Mark's Church gave the sisters a linen shower.

Soon, a shortage of beds became acute.

When their first obstetrical patient arrived, there were no beds available, so Sister P. Teves gave up her own room and slept on the floor of the laboratory.

It was not long before two more rooms were needed and Sisters Pachomia and Arnella were the next to vacate their rooms and sleep on the floor.

The sisters realized that something must be done about providing a place for them to sleep other than on the floor, and a place to do the laundry was necessary.

Sister P. Teves also realized that one important factor to a hospital was a nurses' training school in order to secure stable nursing help.

She commissioned the construction of three buildings to be used for all of these purposes. Although the hospital was still on shaky ground, the sisters risked a debt of $75,000 to make the addition and remodeling.

This was only the first of many additions to the hospital.

In 1930, the Sisters of Divine Providence at the hospital were separately incorporated, and were known as the Sisters of Divine Providence of Illinois.

St. Elizabeth Hospital in Granite City was the temporary headquarters for the new Midwest Province. A short time later, the Missouri Province was founded and it, too, became separately incorporated. This severed all ties of the hospital with the Pittsburgh Province.

Since then, the Sisters of Divine Providence in St. Louis have grown to include the Mount Providence Boarding School for Boys, with facilities for 215 boys from kindergarten through eighth grade; 14 Catholic schools throughout Illinois and Missouri, including St. Elizabeth in Granite City, St. Mary's in Madison and St. Mark's in Venice; and St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Over the years, the Medical Center also has grown, with additions in 1931, 1944, 1960 and 1978 to bring the total bed capacity to 421 acute care beds and a 50-bed psychiatric hospital, the latter named for Bishop Ketteler.

Some of the Medical Center's additional services include home health care, an immunization clinic, stroke rehabilitation and cardiac rehabilitation unit.

Since its beginning in 1921, the St. Louis Province of the Sisters of Divine Providence has sought to follow the philosophy of the Order by respecting the dignity of all people.

This philosophy has guided all provinces of the Order since it was established by the bishop in the 1860s.

Title VI and Title I officers are elected

The Venice Title VI Districtwide Advisory Committee has elected Mrs. Charlotte Dilday as chairman; Mrs. Gussie Glasper, assistant chairman; Miss Barbara Bailey, recording secretary and Mrs. Roger Melford, corresponding secretary, according to Mrs. Althea A. Cross, director.

Officers elected for Title I were Mrs. Caroline Malherek and Mrs. Charlotte Dilday, co-chairman; Mrs. Betty Cunningham, secretary and Robert Blattner, parliamentarian.

Reports were given regarding the close-out of the basic and pilot programs for 1979-80, the grantee orientation and dissemination meeting held recently in Chicago and the basic skills seminar held in Belleville. Staff members were introduced and parental input was encouraged.

Persons attending included Mrs. Irene Taylor, Mrs. L. Foster, Mrs. Rogers Melford, Mrs. Linda Cottrell, Mrs. Gratiana Ponce, Mrs. Gussie Glasper, Mrs. Caroline Malherek, Sr. Barbara, Robert Blattner, Mrs. Joyce Odom, Miss Mary White, Mrs. Betty Cunningham and Miss Barbara Bailey.

The next meeting will be held on Wednesday, Nov. 12, in the school library, in conjunction with the public hearing for the Title VI proposal for 1981-82. Submission to the United States Department of Education is due by Dec. 5.

TOOLS, WATCH GONE

A burglar entered Larry Heath's Ford pickup truck, parked at his home, 1363 Norwood Drive, and stole a brown tool box containing assorted tools, valued at $300, and a gold pocket watch, he reported at 6:25 p.m. Thursday.

JOSHUA McDANIEL, 15-months old, shown with his mother Patty McDaniel of Granite City, and Dean Weise of Wil radio. The youngster was winner of the honorary deputy sheriff contest held at St. Clair Square, Fairview Heights, during the Country Jamboree Week.

Offer intern program

The office of the chancellor of Southern Illinois University and the graduate schools of SIU-Edwardsville and SIU-Carbondale have announced that applications from graduate students are now being accepted for participation in a legislative and administrative internship program which will begin in January, 1981. The application deadline for the first term is Nov. 1.

The program is designed for graduate students currently enrolled at either SIUE or SIUC who are interested in an opportunity to learn more about higher education administration and the legislative process. As many as 10 interns will be assigned to work with area state legislators and three will be assigned to the office of the chancellor.

Applicants must have completed at least 12 graduate semester hours (SIUC) or 18 graduate quarter hours (SIUE) with good academic standing. Law students at SIUC must have completed at least one year of study. Although the competition is open to students in all academic disciplines, the program should be of particular interest to students in business, education and public administration; law; public policy; planning and social services.

Interns will be paid regular graduate assistantship salaries and remission of tuition. Appointments will be for two quarters (SIUE) or one semester (SIUC). All interns are to participate in a special seminar that will seek to integrate practical experiences with philosophical issues in higher education. Participants may arrange academic credit through an appropriate department, which will specify the requirements and the amount of credit that can be earned.

Individuals who desire to compete for the internship should submit a letter, indicating their interest in and qualifications for participating in the program, an up-to-date transcript, and the names and addresses of three references to the Internship Screening Committee, office of the chancellor, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, Carbondale, Ill. 62901.

On the Edwardsville campus, brochures describing the internship program are available in the office of each dean, or additional information may be obtained by calling the SIUE graduate office at 1-892-3011 or 3010.

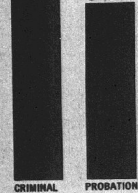

PROMOTING READ-A-THON. Donna Price, 2319 Zippel Ave., is active in helping promote this year's Read-A-THON to benefit the Multiple Sclerosis Society and is urging children to sign up by Thursday's deadline to participate. Information on the program, in which children can raise funds to fight the disease by simply reading books, is available in the Children's Department of the main Granite City Public Library.

Patti Humphrey weds Frank A. Verdu Jr.

Bouquets of summer flowers decorated the altar of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Madison, for the wedding of Miss Patti R. Humphrey and Frank A. Verdu Jr., on Aug. 1.

Father James Shortall performed the 7:15 evening double ring ceremony. Soloist Ginger Faulkner was accompanied by Marianna Chao at the organ. Selections included, "Colour My World," "Sunrise, Sunset," "We've Only Just Begun," "On This Day A Beautiful Mother," "Wedding Song," and "You Light Up My Life."

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. George Carich Sr., 173 Sunny Shores and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Humphrey Sr., Duplo, Ill. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Verdu Sr., 27 Arlington Drive.

The former Miss Humphrey selected a formal length ivory chiffon A-line style gown designed with a sweetheart neckline and bell sleeves enhanced with Alencon lace motifs. Her pleated skirt fell softly into a chapel train.

She wore a lace and pearl Juliet cap to hold in place an ivory fingertip veil and she held a bouquet of ivory roses, lilies and baby's breath.

Maid of honor Miss Judy Horbell was dressed in a blue polyester gown fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, cap sleeves and pleated A-line skirt.

The bridesmaids, Miss Patti Smith, Miss Jill Bledsoe, Miss Barb Stone, a cousin of the bride, Mrs.

Sandy Janek and Miss Amy Verdu, both sisters of the groom, and Miss Shelly Opick, appeared in identical style dresses in rainbow colors of maize, blue, apricot, orchid, green and tangerine.

They all wore roses and baby's breath in their hair and held bouquets of flowers in hues to match their attire. Mary Alvarez, a niece of the groom, was the flower girl. She wore an ivory frock and carried a basket of blossoms.

Randy Humphrey, a brother of the bride, was the ringbearer.

Jim Verdu, a cousin of the groom, served as best man. Mike Coyle, Tom and Jay Verdu, brothers of the groom, Paul and Phillip Humphrey and Ron Carich, the bride's brothers and Tom Janek, the groom's brother-in-law, completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

Mrs. Carich chose a long yellow chiffon gown and the groom's mother selected a rose polyester dress.

Mr. and Mrs. Verdu entertained at a rehearsal dinner held in their home, and the reception was held at St. Mary's in Madison.

The newlyweds honeymooned in New Orleans and are now residing in Granite City.

Both are graduates of North High School. The former Miss Humphrey is enrolled as a nursing student at Belleville Area College. Her husband is working as a welder at National Marine in Hartford, Ill.

MR. AND MRS. FRANK VERDU JR.

They exchanged wedding vows at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Madison. The bride is the former Patti R. Humphrey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Carich Sr., 173 Sunny Shore, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Humphreys Sr., Duplo, Ill.

MR. AND MRS. MICHAEL JACKSON. She is the former Jolene Wickham, daughter of Mrs. Bonnie Wickham, 2230 Washington Ave., and Hebert Wickham, 4000 Sara St. Their wedding took place at Nameoki United Methodist Church.

Couple exchange vows at Nameoki Methodist

Nameoki United Methodist Church was the scene of the wedding on Aug. 23 of Miss Jolene D. Wickham, the daughter of Mr. Bonnie Wickham, 2230 Washington Ave., and Hebert Wickham, 4000 Sara St., and Michael R. Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jackson, 2001 Manley Ave.

The Rev. Eugene Seaman performed a double ring ceremony at 6 p.m. before an altar decorated with bouquets of rainbow color flowers.

Mrs. Eugene Seaman presided at the organ and provided a program of selected nuptial music.

Candlelight illuminated the white carpeted aisle as the bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She wore a white organza gown created with a high neckline, fitted bodice in Chantilly lace edged with seed pearls and bishop sleeves terminating with lace cuffs.

Her semi full skirt was bordered with gathered flounces and extended into a chapel train.

She wore a fingertip veil of illusion secured to a lace Juliet cap and she held a cascade style bouquet.

Maid of honor, Miss Christine Wickham, a sister of the bride, and bridesmaids, Mrs. Frank Faulkner, another sister of the bride, Miss Marsha Jackson, the groom's sister and Tracy Hanning, selected identical pink dresses.

The gowns were fashioned with spaghetti straps and an A-line skirts complemented with matching chiffon capes.

Stephanie and Brian Waugh, served as the flower girl and ringbearer. She was dressed in a pink frock designed with a high neckline, short puff sleeves and tier skirt.

Randy Smith was the best man. Frank Faulkner, the groom's brother and Dave Jackson, brothers of the bride and groom, respectively were groomsmen.

Seating the guests were Ed Wilkerson and Mike Johnson.

A reception was held at Croatian Home and the rehearsal dinner was served at the home of the groom's parents.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Wickham chose a burgundy chiffon gown and jacket ensemble, and the groom's mother appeared in a blue formal dress worn with a matching lace jacket.

The newlyweds are residing in Granite City. Both are graduates of South High School. The bride is working at Midwest Curtain Co., St. Louis, and her husband is an employee of Yate's Mobile Station.

Burning tapers, palms, and ferns decorated the sanctuary of the First United Presbyterian Church for the wedding on Sept. 26 of Miss Cynthia Sue Fuhrman and John Lloyd Miller.

The Rev. David Bruce Maxton and Father E. G. Gehlan of St. Mark's Church officiated at the 7 o'clock evening ceremony.

Miss Fuhrman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Fuhrman, Rural Route Two, Granite City, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Miller, 19 Shirwin Drive.

Musical selections included, "Morning Has Broken," "Because," "Jesus, Joy of Man's Desiring," "The Lord's Prayer" and "Always."

Soloist Albert L. Stevens III was accompanied by Mrs. Isabel Schmidt at the organ.

The bride was escorted down the white carpeted aisle by her father. She wore a floor length gown of white chiffon over taffeta featuring a high stand-up collar of Venice lace, etched with seed pearls, V-yoke traced with lace and an Empire bodice.

Chantilly lace created the cuffs of the full bishop sleeves.

The slightly gathered A-line skirt was encircled at the hemline with a crystal pleated flounce trimmed with lace and extended into a chapel train.

A silk embroidered band adorned with pearls secured her walking length veil of bridal illusion edged with scallop silk embroidery. She carried an all white cascade bouquet of tiger lilies, rose of sharon, forget-me-nots and green fern.

Maid of honor Miss Terri Waker chose a full length dress of rose silesta knit fashioned with a Chantilly lace yoke, stand-up collar and cap sleeves. The slim skirt was slightly flared at the hemline.

She held an arrangement of pink and rose silk dogwood, sweetheart roses, forget-me-nots and greenery centered with pink tiger lilies. Her headpiece was composed of mauve tiger lilies, baby's breath and flocked leaves.

Bridesmaids included Mrs. Leveté Coghlan, a sister of the groom, Mrs. Janet Fuhrman, sister-in-law of the bride, Miss Sherri Diller, Miss Sherri Fuhrman, the bride's niece, and Miss June Justus, a cousin of the bride.

They were groomed in full length rose silesta knit dresses, identical to the honor attendant, and carried arrangements of mauve pink and rose silk dogwood, sweetheart roses and forget-me-nots.

Each attendant also wore headpieces of flocked leaves, white baby's breath and resplend in hues to match their attire.

Daniel Buehrer served as best man. Groomsmen were Paul Miller, brother of the groom, Tom Richards, Daniel Fuhrman, the bride's brother, Richard Bywater, and Michael Karlechik.

Bruce Wright and Michael Miller seated the guests.

Kristina Kay Fuhrman, a niece of the bride, was the flower girl. She wore a long white eyelet frock trimmed with pink ribbons and she carried a white basket of blossoms.

John David Fuhrman, the bride's nephew, was the ringbearer.

Candlelighters were Pam Snelson and James R. Furman Jr., a nephew of the bride, Mrs. Mary Catherine Woods, sister of the groom, attended the guest book.

The bride's mother appeared in a long aqua chiffon gown created with a fitted bodice and V-neckline worn with a matching chiffon capelet and white silk gardenia lace wristlet.

Mrs. Miller, mother of the groom, was attired in a full length amethyst crepe gown fashioned with long sleeves and an accented pleated skirt. She also wore a wristlet of white and magenta rosebuds.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents and a reception was held at the Madison County Pioneer Hall, Collinsville.

The bride graduated in 1977 from North High School and attended Belleville Area College. She presently is employed as a secretary at St. Louis University Hospital.

The groom is also a graduate of North High School and attended BAC. He now works at Granite City Steel and is a member of the Long Lake Volunteer Fire Department.

Miss Vivian Kay Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd H. Bailey, 2807 Roosevelt Ave., and Darrell L. Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald D. Williams, 510 Fleming Ave., Mitchell, exchanged wedding vows on Oct. 4 at the West 22nd Street Baptist Church.

The Rev. William Showers performed a double ring ceremony at 6 o'clock in the evening before an altar decorated with floral arrangements. Burning tapers illuminated the white carpeted aisle and sanctuary and white satin bows marked the pews.

Organist and soloist Bill Hubbard sang, "Three Times A Lady," "The Wedding Song," and "There is Love."

Mr. Bailey escorted his daughter to the altar and gave her in marriage. She chose a full length ivory organza gown fashioned with a high neckline of Chantilly lace accented with a ribbon bow and an embroidered sheer yoke enhanced with an off the shoulder lace ruffle.

Her sheer tapered sleeves terminated with lace cuffs and the natural waistline was defined with a lace and satin bow in the back.

The skirt was created with tiers of Chantilly lace ruffles at the hemline and extended into a chapel train.

She wore a lace headpiece to secure her lace edged veil and held an ivory lace fan centered with a cluster of rosebuds and forget-me-nots.

Honor attendant Jo Ann Collins, a sister of the bride, was gowned in a long past blue dress featuring a blouson bodice with V-yoke of ivory Peau d'Ange lace and stand up collar and flare skirt.

The bridesmaids, Debbie Bailey, a sister-in-law of the bride, Dianna Forsys and Sherri Scrum, the groom's sister and cousin, and Cindy Smith and Nancy Bittick, selected gowns identical to the honor attendant in yellow mint, rose coral and sand knit.

Each attendant carried ivory fans festooned with sprigs of flowers to match their attire and wore flowers in their hair.

Flower girls, April and Tina Forsys, nieces of the groom, were dressed in pink organza frocks. Each wore a headband of flowers and carried baskets of rosebuds.

Nathan Bailey and Joey Wallace, the bride's nephews, were the ringbearers.

Angela and Charlie Collins, the bride's niece and nephew, served as junior bride and groom.

The groom chose his brother, Monte Williams, as best man.

Nathan Bailey, brother of the groom, Greg Forsys, brother-in-law of the groom, Ricky Williams, brother of the groom, Larry Butkovich and Ernie Cuevas, were groomsmen and ushers.

Mrs. Bailey was attired in a floor length blue polyester gown and sleeveless coat ensemble. The groom's mother appeared in an ice blue knit formal worn with a matching chiffon jacket.

A rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's parents, at the Lewis and Clark Restaurant and the reception was hosted at the VFW Hall, Christie Bailey attended the guest book.

Out of town guests included Lloyd Summers, Des Moines, Iowa.

Granite 650 initiates two

Granite Chapter 650, Order of the Eastern Star, initiated Delora and Ralph Baker at its weekend meeting conducted at the Masonic Temple by Worthy Matron Donna Boyer and Worthy Patron John Boyer.

Grand lecturers present were Betty McClintock, Mary Bihrey, Hazel Wood and Arline Fox and grand chapter committee members, past matrons and past patrons.

Mrs. Betty Ebrecht was named guest of honor for the evening.

Pro tem officers for the session included Orvin Diekmann, Wendell Gritz and Dorothy Watkins.

A memorial service was held for Alice King, a deceased member of Granite Chapter.

During the business segment, Mrs. Boyer submitted her report on the grand chapter session held in Chicago.

Honors were accorded to Mrs. McClintock, Harry McClintock, Gayla Stuart, Julian Smith and Shirley Decourcy on their birthdays and to Isabelle and Orvin Diekmann who observed their anniversary.

It was announced that the next meeting the chapter will honor all committee members and it also will be election of officers.

The dining room was decorated in a Halloween motif with each member receiving a autumn favor.

Committee for the evening was Bonnie and Jerry Fisher, Mrs. McClintock, Peggy Gibbons, Bertha Frih, Della Aulabagh, Mary Hoover, John Boyer and Mary Bihrey.

FOUR SCORE AND TEN. More than 90 people, age 70 and over, gathered for a special service Sunday at the First Assembly of God Church, 24th Street and Grand Avenue. The service was based on a verse in the Old Testament, Psalm 90, verse 10, where it refers to living 70 years or, due to special strength, 80 years. Not all were able to come forward for the photo. Many remained in the pews or wheel chairs. Families brought their parents, grandparents and great-grandparents to the service. Several were brought from nursing homes and in special vehicles. Following the service, a dinner was held for those attending, where many of the people renewed old friendships, not having seen each other, in some cases, for years. In the rear center, wearing a black suit, white shirt and black tie, with a microphone in front of him, is Rev. C. Dale Edwards, pastor of the church, and to the left of Pastor Edwards is Rev. C. M. O'Guin, founder of First Assembly of God Church.

Zoning hearings set here Friday

Three on-site public zoning hearings will be held in Quad-City area townships Friday by the Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals.

At 9:55 a.m. Friday, the board will meet at 2012 Hindebrand St., Cloverleaf Addition of Nameoki Township, where Jimmy E. Dix is requesting a special use permit to place a mobile home for at least five years.

At 9:10 a.m. tomorrow, the board will meet at 2132 Alton Ave., Cloverleaf Addition, where Stanley A. Earhart is requesting a special use permit to continue the placement of a mobile home, since a previous special use permit was granted for the sole occupancy of another individual.

The third hearing will be at 9:45 a.m. Friday in Venice Township where Paul L. Whitford is requesting a special use permit to place a mobile home for the duration of his lifetime on the extension of West Pontoon Road, one-half mile west of Route 3 (formerly Route 151).

CREWS LIQUOR
IT'S STILL QUICKER!

Special tribute was given to elderly at First Assembly of God

"They came in wheelchairs, they came with canes and crutches, they came from nursing homes, they came by themselves and with families, all over 70 years old to attend a special service at the First Assembly of God Church last Sunday.

More than 90 senior citizens, all members of the church, participated in the service, followed by a dinner honoring them.

The theme Sunday was "Three score and ten," based on Psalm 90, Verse 10, where God is making a promise for persons to live 70 years, and perhaps 80, depending of their strength and faith.

The founding pastor of First Assembly the Rev. C. M. O'Guin, now more than 90 years of age, was among the honored guests who described the early days of the church and the Pentecostal movement in the Quad-Cities area.

The term Pentecostal applies to several Christian groups, often fundamentalist, that emphasize the activity of the Holy Spirit, stress holiness of living, and express their religious feelings uninhibitedly, including the speaking in tongues. Rev. O'Guin, a Pentecostal pioneer in Illinois, talked of the church's first meeting in 1919 in a store building. He recalled the purchasing of the lot at 24th Street and Grand Avenue with a gift from a Grace Gott, of $1,000 in memory of her mother.

Cutting down the corn stalks, clearing the lot and holding church meetings and services outdoors on the lot were recalled. Neighbors in the area circulated a petition against the loud singing. "They thought we were crazy back then, but they could not move us out, I remember not long afterwards the same people, and the Press-Record, wanted me to run for the board of the high school, but I told them, 'No.'"

"We had some great men carry the power of Pentecostal against all odds and we brought some great preachers to Granite City," O'Guin said.

In 1927 Rev. O'Guin started Tri-City Park Tabernacle, meeting in a tent, he recalled.

He praised the work of Rev. C. Dale Edwards in the church and the community, noting Rev. Edwards' education and training in helping people and the work of the church in the community.

Pontoon Board approves new soccer facility

The construction of a new indoor soccer facility to be located at Highway 111 and Kaseberg Lane, was approved by the Pontoon Beach Village Board on Tuesday night.

Board members agreed to the grant approval for the building to be 100 x 240 feet, according to the Madison County Zoning Board stipulations that a request for a warehouse be submitted separately at a later date.

An asphalt floor, covered with astro turf, will be installed and there will be a parking lot to accommodate 80 vehicles, it was explained by Floyd D. Foreman Jr., promoter of the project.

In other business, the board members approved paying Juneau Associates, engineering firm, the sum of $517, a billing for designing the 1980 road maintenance program.

Payment of $12,069 to MacInnis Asphalt Co. for overruns on the street project was approved.

Two annexation ordinances for Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hall, 12 Queensbury Court, and Mr. and Mrs. William J. Schehl, 7 Queensbury Court, also were accepted by the board.

The board agreed with a request for additional street lights, three on the north side of Pontoon Road along the westbound lane, and one to be installed at 3927 Ruth Drive.

A discussion was held on insurance for the village hall with an estimate from Louis Agency and another from Commercial Union. Members requested more time to consider cost and coverage from both companies.

The next meeting is scheduled for Nov. 11.

The annual John F. Kennedy Memorial Dance will be held at 7 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 2, at Engelbert Hall, 10th Street and Washington Avenue, Madison, according to Christ Costoff, chairman of the Madison County Democratic Central Committee.

Alpha Center open house set Sunday

The public is invited to attend an open house observance at the Alpha Center for Women, located at 2104 Cleveland Blvd., Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m.

Members of the organization, volunteers from area clubs and sororities have been busy scrubbing, painting and cleaning the facility for the first public opening day, according to Susan Gasparovic, president of the Alpha Center board.

Mrs. Gasparovic said the center is being extensively renovated to house pregnant women in need and will be ready to accept residents before the end of this year.

The program has been designed to accommodate from eight to 10 women and provide a safe environment for them during a difficult time.

The center has a 24-hour telephone answering service (876-2030) which offers confidential advice in helping a client get whatever aid she may need during her pregnancy.

MR. AND MRS. DALE HUBBARD.
Their wedding was solemnized at Tri-City Park Tabernacle. Formerly Miss Paula Schuler, the bride is the daughter of Granite City Mayor and Mrs. Paul Schuler, 3237 Newell Drive.

Paula Schuler marries Dale Allan Hubbard

Miss Paula Schuler, daughter of Granite City Mayor and Mrs. Paul Schuler, 3237 Newell Drive, became the bride of Dale Allan Hubbard, son of Mrs. Phyllis Hubbard, 231 W. Michigan, Jacksonville, Ill., on Sept. 5, at Tri-City Park Tabernacle Church.

Dr. Thurnace Joy performed a double ring ceremony at 6:30 in the evening.

Organist Reed Johnson and Pianist Paula Lewis accompanied the bride and groom. The bridesmaids were Tracy and Phil Green and Allan Schuler, a brother of the bride.

Selections included "What A Difference You've Made In My Life," "Wedding Song," "Lady," and "God, A Woman and a Man."

Escorted to the altar by her father, the former Miss Schuler wore a full length white Chantilly lace and organza gown fashioned with a fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline and long bishop sleeves, accented with seed pearls.

Her bouffant skirt was draped at the hemline and enhanced with chiffon rosettes centered with pearls.

She wore a Chantilly lace camelot headpiece to secure her long veil of bridal illusion bordered with scallop lace. Her colonial bouquet was an arrangement of white carnations intermingled with greenery.

Maid of honor Miss Cindy Schuler, a sister of the bride, chose a burgundy full length dress created with a blouse bodice, sweetheart neckline and cap sleeves and softly flowing skirt.

GC Jr. Service

Fortcoming projects and programs was the main topic of discussion at the October meeting of the Granite City Junior Service Club held at the Nameoki United Methodist Church, last week.

President Faith Holsinger presided at the business segment and announced members will assist the March of Dimes organization with its drive.

Members will also prepare and distribute Thanksgiving baskets to area residents and are finalizing plans for the annual "Breakfast With Santa" project set for Saturday, Dec. 6 at the Granite City Township Hall.

Tickets for the Christmas event are available from any club member at a cost of $1.50.

Welcome Wagon hostesses named for GC area

Jean Deckard and Diane Rogers have completed training as Welcome Wagon hostesses and are greeting households in the Granite City area according to an announcement by Mrs. Barbara Marshall, president of Welcome Wagon International.

The local residents will call on new movers, those with change of residence, newlyweds, and new births, to present gifts from local sponsoring businesses.

As a community service, they will also distribute information for many government agencies and local civic and cultural groups.

To request a Welcome Wagon call, those interested are advised to call Mrs. Deckard at 931-5344 or Mrs. Rogers at 877-8840.

Ham & bean supper at Madison church

The United Methodist Church of Madison is sponsoring a "Ham and bean dinner" on Saturday, Nov. 1, from 1 a.m. to 7 p.m. in the church basement. The dinner will be served family style and will include ham and beans, cole slaw, cornbread, drink, and dessert, according to the Rev. John Walter, pastor.

Tickets for the dinner may be obtained in advance from members of the church or may be purchased at the door. Adult tickets are $3 and children's tickets (ages 6-12) are $1.50.

The church is located at the corner of Fifth and Ewing streets in Madison. The public is invited. Carry-outs are available. Rev. Walter added.

Matthew 26:26-28
"Now when the even was come, he sat down with the twelve. And as they did eat, he said, Verily I say unto you, that one of you shall betray me."

One of the twelve betray Christ? One who was called and commissioned to preach the Gospel, heal the sick, and cast out devils? It is hard to imagine being that close the Savior and then betraying Him. But it did happen.

It is just as amazing today to see the countless ways that God has blessed our Nation. Our people. And then see the many ways we betray His goodness.

God only asks that we see the Kingdom of God and it's righteousness first and then He will bless us with all that we have need of.

The way back to forgiveness is the way of repentance. To say, God, I'm sorry.

Will you say it? Today.

Tacole—going strong here after 10 years

From an old, converted drive-in taco stand to a modern Mexican fast food restaurant, Tacole, formerly Taco Hut, is going strong and constantly improving.

In ten short years, Joe and Pat Morrison have made many changes in their business' appearance, but not in the quality of the food or the friendly, personal service their regular customers have come to expect.

Beginning more than ten years ago, the Morrisons started a drive-in serving Mexican food at 29th Street and Madison Avenue called Taco Hut. For nine years, the couple, with the help of family members and friends, built up a business which eventually grew out of its small facilities.

With $1,500 borrowed from a family member, the young couple started their business in April of 1971. For the first few months they used a box to keep their money in and to make change from. Later they acquired an old, used mechanical cash register which they used for several years.

Through the hard work of the Morrisons, each holding down another job in addition to the business, and six loyal employees, Taco Hut prospered.

Soon the problem of too little space plagued the operation and the Morrisons began the search for larger facilities to move into. They were especially interested in a place with inside dining space due to the slowdown of business during the cold winter months at the drive-in.

In mid-1979 the old Nameoki fire station, 3900 Nameoki Road, was sold by the city of Granite City and was purchased by the Granite City Glass Co. to be renovated for commercial space.

The couple inquired about space in the building for a new restaurant. They leased the lower level of the building and it was renovated to their specifications.

This includes two dining areas and the addition of a salad bar.

The Morrisons moved from their old location into the new, modern facility and opened Tacole on Jan. 4 of this year. They decided to change the name of the business with the move to the new location.

They now employ 13 persons and have a greatly expanded menu which now includes six combination plates.

Tacole has been sponsor for little league baseball teams in addition to softball and bowling teams. It most recent endeavor is the hosting of birthday parties at the restaurant complete with the Mexican tradition of the breaking of a candy-filled pinata.

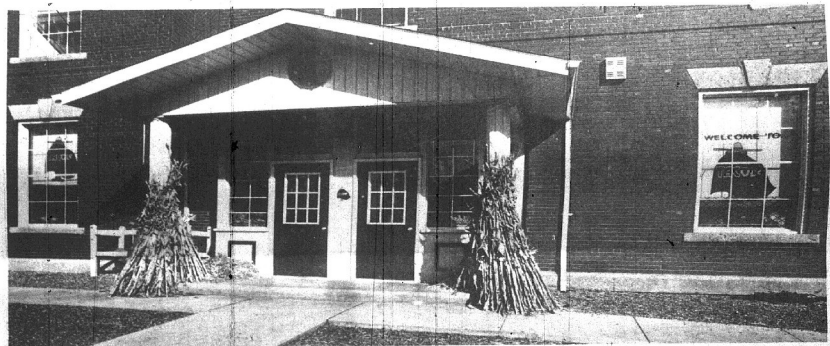

Being competitive with other fast-food operations is one of the goals of the Morrisons, but with special care not to sacrifice the fast, courteous service their patrons have come to know and rely on.

The couples' next venture will be the franchising of Tacole restaurants using the present establishment as the prototype.

Ten years have past and Tacole is going strong today having the firm foundation of its predecessor, the successful Taco Hut.

PEOPLE

A NEW LOOK and new name are just a few of the changes that Tacole, formerly Taco Hut, has gone through in the past ten years. One of two dining areas, top left, is decorated with a touch of old Mexico. Owner and operator Joe Morrison, top right, stands at the service counter in Tacole. A greatly expanded menu covers a large portion of the wall behind him. The fast-food restaurant is equipped with modern, digital cash registers which contrasts with the cash box used at the former location in the early years. The restaurant's entrance, above, which faces Ames Avenue, is now decorated for the Halloween season complete with corn stalks and pumpkins.

Wilson PTA gives awards

Awards were presented to youngsters winning an art contest, conducted at Wilson School during Illinois Art Week in October, at the Wilson PTA meeting held last week at the school.

Bill Smithman, PTA cultural arts chairman, gave the awards to student winners who competed in one of four levels—kindergarten, first and second grades, third and fourth grades or fifth and sixth grades.

Receiving the prizes were: Neil Dettwiler and Laurie Hildreth, sixth, and Beth Earney and Amy Brooks, fifth grades; Steve Brooks and Helen Parks, fourth, and Jennifer Dettwiler, Terry Pyles and Taffy Smock, third; Bobby Lipschick, Shannon Dockery, Meshia Barton and Rhonda Jolly, second, and Danny Pasche, Christine Cruise and Brandi Lofink, first, and Christine Cuvar, morning, and Steve Keeling, afternoon, kindergarten.

For the contest, the children submitted either written work or artwork dealing with a subject assigned to their classroom. Entries were judged by a panel consisting of Cathy Cruise, Angie Keeling and Smithson. Future monthly contests will be based on different themes. It was announced.

Delores Taft, PTA president, was in charge of the business session, which opened with the Pledge of Allegiance and PTA Prayer led by Linda McGee.

Shirley Star reported a CPR course will be offered through the PTA in November.

Gilbert Walmsley, principal of Granite City High School North, was the guest speaker and showed a series of slides.

EMT refresher course offered

Emergency Medical Technicians who are ready for recertification may enroll now for a four-week refresher course to be taught at Granite City High School, South, beginning Monday. The course is slated for Monday and Wednesday nights from 6 to 8:45 p.m., through November 26.

Tuition for the course, offered through Belleville Area College, is $24.

Registration may be completed in the area college office at South High School. Payment must be received at the time of registration.

The deadline for registration is tomorrow.

Steelers need treats, not tricks from Tigers

By TOM SCHOCKER
of the Press Record

GRANITE CITY — In 1975, the Granite City North Steelers literally exploded into their first state football playoff appearance. Friday at Edwardsville, the Steelers, at 6-1, will have a second shot. The key to a return engagement. They must beat the Tigers. And even then, they might not get into the playoffs.

North, which is out of the conference race because of its loss to Belleville Althoff, is one of the top teams in the state among Class 5A schools. They are ranked tenth.

Two weeks ago North's back was against the wall when it was faced with a possible conference championship. Last week it had to prove claim to city dominance. Now, it's the whole season that's on the line.

All the work, everything we have done this season comes down to this game," said Wyrostek. You don't think there's much pressure on the Steelers. It will all be up for this game.

With an at-large bid to the state playoffs floating in the air, Wyrostek believes the only way to obtain it is to do what they have been doing all year long. "We are definitely going to run the ball," said Wyrostek. "We have gotten this far with what we've done. They have given us seven good ball games all ready."

The 250-plus yards on the ground running attack by the Steelers will nearly be back to full strength for the Tigers. Seeing sparing action in last week's contest, North's top back, Kevin Buchanan, is fit and ready. "Kevin is pretty close to normal strength now," said Wyrostek. All our backs will carry the ball, though. They are capable of doing it."

The assignment of controlling the awesome ground game by North is left up to the Edwardsville defense. Which may be more difficult now. In an incident that occurred after the Tigers last game against Poplar Bluff, head coach Dick Ford was forced to suspend five key defensive players from the team. Sources contend that among the five were Dave Keyser and Scott Primas, both senior defensive linebackers and Brian Brady, a senior defensive end. Although Ford would not reveal the circumstances involved in the suspension, he did say it was for "disciplinary reasons". "There might be more people involved," said Ford. "I don't know who's playing yet. We might have to play a lot of juniors and it is bound to have an effect on our performance. You don't know what will happen when you substitute experienced players for inexperienced ones."

Even if the Edwardsville defensive corps might be depleted, it's the offensive crew that has Wyrostek concerned. "Edwardsville's strength is their speed," said Wyrostek. "You can't let down or they'll burn you. We'll have to play a combination of a tight line and a strong secondary. We have to make them play a guessing game."

The Tigers won't have to guess in order to figure out what they have to do to stop North. "I feel if we stop their running attack and keep them from scoring, we'll be in the game," said Ford. "Both teams have something in stake with this game. North has a chance for the state

North toys with Madison

By TOM SCHOCKER
of the Press Record

GRANITE CITY — You might have called it a mismatch. The records certainly spoke for themselves. Nevertheless, the pairing was made as Granite North and Madison took to the field for an IHSA Sub-sectional soccer game here Tuesday.

The Steelers, owning a number three ranking in the Press Record poll and a 12-2-2 season mark, easily disposed of a lowly 5-10-4 Madison squad 3-0.

However, the score and the play by North was not indicative of what the results could have been.

"We didn't take the game that serious," said Steeler head coach Bob Kehoe. "Maybe North thought this was a push-over game. The way the Trojans were toyed with in the first half was reason enough."

Sticking to a rigid passing game, the Steelers never really made a serious surge to the offense. "I told them before the game that this shouldn't be a game," said Kehoe. "We should have blown them out in the first quarter, but what do we do? We go out and fool around."

Even playing nonchalant North still dominated enough to come out ahead after 40 minutes of play. The Steelers made good on one of six corner kicks in the game when at the midway point of the first period, Benny Nolan letted a perfect boot in front of the Madison goal.

Paul Barrington had no trouble finding the ball and heading it past Trojan keeper Avery Crawford. In fact, none of the Madison players bunched up in front of the goal made an effort to prevent the play. "The goal could have been stopped," said Trojan head coach Gene Briggs. "Nobody moved for the ball. They were just standing around."

The Steeler starting 11 had their fun in the first half. When the remainder of the North bench was played in the second 40 minutes, Madison had its hands full. Crawford was called on to make six saves, all in self-defense. When North shelved

No change in poll

GRANITE CITY — There were no changes in this week's Press-Record Prep Soccer Poll of area coaches. For the second straight week, Collinsville holds onto a narrow advantage over defending state champion Granite City South for the top spot. Collinsville received three first place votes and South two.

In the third spot, where it has been all season, is Granite City North. The Steelers upped their record to 13-2-2 on the season Tuesday with a win over Madison. Neither Collinsville nor South was scheduled. Both will play tonight in IHSA Sub-sectional action.

The rest of the top five includes Quincy Senior and Edwardsville, both of which had easy wins in their sub-sectionals.

It is the second week that South has been second to Collinsville. The team was ready to say the South loss to Collinsville last week, South had been the unanimous choice for first.

the goal for an unofficial 19 shots. "I knew we had to play defense and keep them from scoring," said Briggs. "We only expected a few chances and we hoped we could make good use of them."

The Trojan's chances were very few in number. The only legitimate opportunity they got was wasted when a tip in was missed in front of the Steeler goal. For facts, Madison got off just one unofficial shot and that coming from far range.

North had plenty of times to score, but couldn't find the net. Where the Steeler starters failed to produce, the second string found the knock. Marty Donkany found Mark McWhorter in the third period to push the North advantage to two.

"The second 11 played much better than the first 11," said Kehoe. "They (the starters) weren't even thinking about this game today and their play showed. I think there's more to it than that. We just didn't show any class."

Eric Mags tried to rectify Kehoe's opinion in the final stanza. Maas maneuvered the ball very nicely around the Trojan defense and completely fooled the keeper with a shot. The ball was drilled past the near post. "Sure the shots were in the net," said Briggs, "but they weren't unstoppable and should have been prevented. I thought we played excellent. The team was ready and the seniors wanted a game of this caliber."

At least one of the two teams on the field was prepared according to Kehoe. "I'm not going to say we played terrible," said Kehoe. "I'm not going to say we weren't taking them seriously. I'm not going to say that we didn't want to win as much as Madison. I'm not going to say that there was a total lack of intensity on our part. I'm going to give all the credit to Madison."

Yet it is North that will be advancing to second round sub-sectional playoff action. The Steelers will face Alton at home Thursday.

"Some victories you want to go home and dwell upon," said Kehoe. "This one you want to go home and forget."

Both Alton teams advance

Sub-sectional winners include Quincy, Edwardsville

ALTON — Both Alton prep soccer teams, Alton Senior and unbeaten Alton Marquette, advanced to the semifinals of the Granite City South Sub-Sectional Tournament here Tuesday.

Alton Senior blasted Civic Memorial of Bethalto 5-1 and Marquette upped its record to 16-0-2 with a 4-1 win over Wood River.

The wins for Alton's teams will put them up against Granite City's two prep teams, North and South, today in the tournament semifinals. Alton Senior will play at Granite City North (a 3-0 winner over Madison) at 3 p.m.

In Marquette's win over Wood River, the Explorers got all four of their goals from senior Mike Joeh (pronounced Yale). The standout striker notched his 28th, 29th, 30th and 31st goals of the season in 18 games.

Marquette, which is remarkable in its first year of varsity competition, was never threatened by the Oilers. The Explorers' goalie, Mike Walters, wasn't called upon to make any saves in the games, except for a penalty shot awarded to Wood River's David Wooten late in the game. By then, the outcome wasn't in doubt.

Alton Senior's Redbirds were never in trouble in their game, either. Getting goals from five different players, they ran their record to 12-7-3 on the season.

Tom Walters, Steve St. Cino, Scott Admire, Greg Nasse and Darrin Jones each scored goals for the Redbirds. For Jones, it was his 18th of the season, putting him three behind his team-record setting pace of a year ago.

Alton outshot Bethalto 23-4 and had an 8-1 edge in corner kicks. Matt Marmino was in goal for the Redbirds.

In other sub-sectionals around the state Tuesday, Edwardsville beat East St. Louis Assumption 6-2. St. Paul of Highland beat Lebanon 5-1, Belleville East beat Waterloo Gibault 2-0, Cahokia blanked Waterloo Senior 5-0, Quincy Senior defeated Riverton 13-0, Quincy Notre Dame beat Chatham Glenwood 6-2, Springfield Senior downed Jacksonville 3-0 and Springfield Southeast defeated Springfield Lanphier 4-0.

In Edwardsville's win over Gibault, the Tigers got four goals from standout Tom Blabaus. Edwardsville will play at O'Fallon Thursday in semifinal action. St. Paul got goals from Randy Powers (2), John Lutostansky, Kevin Landmann and Mike Milkovich.

Highland-St. Paul will play at Collinsville at 7:30 in the other semifinal of that sub-sectional. The two winners will meet Saturday in the championship game with the winner of that contest advancing to the Granite City South Sectional.

In the Belleville Sub-Sectional, East got goals from Quang Tran and Alan Leiner to beat a fire-up Gibault squad. Tren's goal was unassisted, while Leiner's goal was assisted by Drew Wilson.

Cahokia's Rob Schwartz had a field day against Waterloo with three goals and two assists. He scored his first goal unassisted ten minutes into the game. His second came six minutes later on an assist from Mike Dale. Rick Tenholder scored Cahokia's third goal off a pass from Schwartz. By then, the rout was on. Schwartz assisted on Rick Howard's goal and scored his third of the game in the fourth period.

Thursday in the Belleville Sub-Sectional, East will play at Belleville Althoff and Cahokia will play at Belleville West. The winners will meet Saturday in the championship. The champion will advance to the South Sectional.

In the Quincy Sub-Sectional, the Quincy Blue Devils had a rout with the Riverton Hawks. Quincy was never in trouble and scored a season-high 13 goals. Riverton is in its first year of varsity soccer competition. Likewise, Quincy Notre Dame had an easy time with Chatham Glenwood. Both Springfield Senior and Springfield Southeast got shutouts. Quincy Senior will face Springfield Thursday and Southeast will play at home against Notre Dame in semifinal action.

Clemson has little trouble in winning Invitational

BELLEVILLE — The Clemson University Tigers ran away with the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville fall tennis invitational this weekend, crowning seven champions out of the nine flights. However, the Cougars scored a big victory at first singles, as SIUE's freshman sensation, Ken Flach, soundly defeated Clemson's All-American Mark Dickson, 6-3, 6-4.

Clemson racked up 48 team points, while the Cougars finished a distant second with 32. Tied for third were Big Ten schools Wisconsin and Minnesota, with 18 each. SIUCarbondale totaled 15 for fifth place; U. of Arkansas at Little Rock, 13; Illinois State, 3; and the University of Arkansas, 1. Clemson won the most last year, also.

Flach, the 17-year-old freshman from Kirkwood High (St. Louis), played a control game in defeating the Clemson All-American. Flach held his steady service with consistently good placement of ground strokes, setting up his winners slowly but surely. Dickson possesses an awesome serve, but the Cougar freshman consistently scored on sizzling returns down the lines.

At second singles, Clemson sophomore John DesDunes narrowly defeated SIUE's Hugo Nunez, 7-5, 6-4. Nunez is also a sophomore, and these two seem to be a couple of the rising stars of collegiate tennis today.

Clemson's senior, All-American, Fender Murphy defeated SIUCarbondale's Brian Stanley for the title in the third singles flight. At fourth singles, SIUE freshman Doug Burke handily defeated Rick Browne of Wisconsin, 6-1, 6-1. In the fifth flight finals, Rick Rudeen of Clemson squeaked out a 6-7, 7-6, 6-2 victory over Ken Hegelson of Minnesota. In the second set, Hegelson had four match points but couldn't square the match.

To round out the singles, Clemson's Greg Cooper handily defeated SIUE's freshman Marc Slusny, two and four.

Clemson swept the doubles matches. Dickson and DesDunes defeated Lars Roos and Chuck Cavin of Arkansas-Little Rock, 7-6, 6-5 at first doubles. Murphy and Rudeen beat SIUE's Flach and Burke, 7-6, 6-0, at second doubles. And the Tiger's John Akel and Mark Yodice defeated John Grief and Eric Eberhart of Carbondale, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, to demonstrate graphically why they are ranked so high in NCAA Division I tennis. In a third flight singles match, SIUE's Haimo O'Jala won by default over Mark Dutton of Arkansas, and then lost to Stanley of SIUC in the semifinals, 3-6, 6-4, 6-3.

The Cougars' fifth flight player, Jorma Lepanen, defeated Wisconsin's Tom Ammerar, 7-6, 1-6, 6-3, before losing in the semifinals to Rudeen, 7-5, 6-4.

The SIUE first doubles team of O'Jala and Nunez lost in the semis to Clemson's Dickson and DesDunes, 6-4, 6-4, and the Cougars' third doubles team lost in the semis, to SIUCarbondale's Eberhart and Grief, 7-5, 6-2.

The tournament completed the fall schedule for the Cougars, who are favored to win the NCAA Division II crown for the fourth straight year. The tournament, held at Belleville's Oak Hill Racquet Club, was underwritten by Citizens Savings.

South spikers coast to victory over North volleyball

Chris Boyd landed her vicious spike seven times with the aid of some nice setting by seniors Sherie Dilday and Karen Spencer. Jeffries was still serving and stretched her service span to 26 points to give South a 11-0 second game lead, before North got on the board.

North's three points were scored when Erin McKeehan was serving. Her first serve was perfect, South thought it was long and let it go — it landed just inside the back line. Then South returned the ball into the net. The Stealers' third point came when they blocked a spike and South thought it was headed to go out on the side. It landed in by an inch, 11-3.

After a couple exchanges on the serve, Boyd finally got South back together with four straight. The final point came at the hands of South's junior, Julie DeTuntz. She spiked the ball, but North returned it. The return came right back to DeTuntz. She just tipped it over and the ball landed between two Stealers, game.

"We had some very nice serving," said South's coach Wilma Schulze. "Our passing, setting, and hitting was very good. We were relaxed. The girls felt no pressure and were able to execute with precision."

North's coach Sharon Bloodworth refused to comment. Bloodworth also refused to allow any of the athletes on her team to comment.

On election night, South will host Red Bud and then on Thursday, Nov. 6, Edwardsville will travel to South for a close match.

Good news for area soccer

GRANITE CITY — Granite City soccer enthusiasts got good news from two separate sources here this week.

Tuesday night, the Pontoon Beach Village Board approved a zoning change that will allow for the construction of an indoor soccer facility in that community.

The Village Board granted the request to build a 100 X 240 foot building which will be located off of Highway 111 at Caseyburg Lane in Pontoon Beach.

The building will most likely be used for amateur soccer. There are many teams that have been using facilities at the Granite City Army Depot in the winter for indoor soccer. However, the new facility in Pontoon Beach will be much more conducive to the indoor game. The Army Depot building that has been used was not constructed for that purpose.

The new building at the Pontoon Beach location has an asphalt base floor which in turn will be covered by an artificial turf surface, such as Monsanto's Astro-Turf or others such as Tartan-Turf.

Indoor soccer's popularity has grown in recent years in this area, especially with the success last season of the St. Louis Steamers professional team in the Major Indoor Soccer League. The Steamers have drawn capacity crowds into the St. Louis Checkerdome for their exciting brand of soccer.

In indoor soccer, the field, of course, is much smaller and the goal is about half the size of an outdoor soccer goal. There are fewer players per team, but because of the smallness of the area, there are much higher shot counts and more goals scored during games.

The Pontoon Beach facility will also feature a parking lot area for approximately 80 cars. The tract of land involved contains four acres. The zoning change was requested by Floyd D. Foreman of Granite City.

In a separate item, it has been learned that plans are being finalized for an elaborate soccer complex which will be located in Granite City near Pontoon Road and Village Lane. The complex will feature none soccer fields, a parking area for 400 cars and a playground and concession area.

The plans call for five fields 210 X 360 feet and four fields 186 X 300 feet. The fields would be used by both the boys and girls amateur teams in Granite City. Plans also call for an elaborate drainage and underground water system. The complex would be similar to the recently-completed one in Alton located on Route 111 across from the Alton State Hospital. No public funds would be used for the Granite City complex. It would be funded completely by private donations.

In addition, a new roadway into the complex is among the plans, so that existing roads and housing will not be disturbed. Preliminary estimates put the cost of the project at near $2 million. Nearly 32 acres of land will be involved.

A kickoff meeting will be held later in November. After that meeting, more details will be available in the Press-Record.

Panthers getting used to new coach's new style

CHARLESTON — Eastern Illinois University first year basketball coach Rick Samuels has spent the first week of practice introducing the players to his style of play.

"We've had a god first week of practice," said Samuels. "We've been working on the usual things you start with... stressing fundamentals and trying to give the players an idea of how we approach things."

both offensively and defensively.

"Everyone is responding very well... the returning players are giving us some good leadership, and the team has had little difficulty in adapting to some defensive changes but then we haven't been too technical yet."

The Panthers, who have won six straight NCAA II playoffs, are in their final year of Division II play.

Eastern has been accepted for Division I status in all sports beginning with the 1981-82 season.

But Samuels inherits six returning lettermen and four fulltime or parttime starters who will make a run at a seventh straight tournament appearance.

The two fulltime returning starters are 6-6 forward Ricky Robinson (Aurora-West) and 6-2 guard Chuck Turk (Maple Park-Kaneland). Robinson, who has the best skills of anyone on the team, scored 9.1 points and 38 rebounds last year.

Turk took over in mid-season and went on a 48 point scoring binge in his first week in the starting lineup. He ended up with a 6.7 average and shot 48 percent from the field.

Officials meeting

GRANITE CITY — There will be a meeting for persons interested in officiating basketball games for the Granite City Park District. The meeting will be Thursday, Nov. 6 at 7 p.m. in Room Three of the Namecki Recreation Center.

The meeting will cover rules and officials schedules. First year officials with an IBSA certification, will receive $9 per game — non-certified officials will receive $8 per game.

If you are unable to attend this meeting and wish to work this season, call Bill Pennock at 877-3069, the Wilson Park Office.

YMCA team needs games

JACKSONVILLE — Any basketball team composed of boys in the seventh and eighth grades and 12-13 years of age that would like to schedule a game (home & home or otherwise) should contact Donald R. Rains, physical director of the Jacksonville YMCA at Area Code (217) 245-2141. We welcome church teams, boys clubs, other YMCA teams, etc.

Bronze Boot match could be one of the best

Special to the Press-Record

EDWARDSVILLE — The 10th annual Bronze Boot soccer battle Thursday night at Busch Stadium in St. Louis between the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Cougars and the Bills of St. Louis University is a dream athletic contest come true. It has everything, with festivities starting at 5:30 p.m. and the game at 7:30 p.m. The two collegiate soccer giants aren't dominating the United States as they once did, but when they square off, the whole nation watches in awe — that is, that portion of the nation interested in soccer, which is a fast-increasing part of the country's sports loving public.

The Bronze Boot series now stands at 4-1-1, with the Cougars kicking off Coach Bob Guelker winning it last year.

The Budweiser Weekly Collegiate Pool showed St. Louis U. dropping one notch in the standings, from eighth to ninth, while the Cougars who split a pair over the past weekend, losing to the University of Illinois, Chicago Circle Chicks, 1-0, stayed firm.

The Bills will enter the game with an 11-4-2 record, while the Cougars are 9-6-2. With Southern Methodist U. (9-1-2) dropping from 13th to 15th, and the Cougars holding firm at 17th in the latest rankings, it's obvious that SIUE's hopes of qualifying for the Midwest Regional NCAA post-season tourney bid would be helped considerably by a victory Thursday night over the Bills.

However, Coach Guelker feels that his charges would still merit a wild-card choice, even if we lose, which we aren't, to St. Louis, because of the strength of schedule." The Bills will be in better shape physically than the Cougars as they have only one starter, back Scott Macdonald, sidelined with a back injury. SIUE's injury list of winger Steve Schell, stand-out defender Tom Groark and mid-fielder Joe Howe, all three starters, could be costly to the Cougars. At the end of Tuesday, the trio didn't figure to see any action at Busch.

It's been a tough season for both SLU and SIUE. In fact, they have each lost to three of the nation's top teams — and by almost identical scores — University of San Francisco (No. 1), the University of Connecticut (No. 3), and the fast-rising Panthers of the University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee (No. 12).

Tom Mataya of Anheuser-Busch, who is pushing the Bronze Boot game all-out, joins SIUE's acting athletic director, Ed Bigham, in predicting that the crowd will set not only a new record for the game, but for the entire nation for a collegiate soccer clash. Early Tuesday, 18,000 tickets had been sold.

The 1973 Bronze Boot battle drew a record 20,113. Mataya and Bigham are predicting a minimum of 25,000 with a good chance to reach 30,000 or more. Busch Stadium gates Four and Seven will open at 5 p.m. At 6 p.m., two more gates will be opened: Two and Six. Tickets at the gates are $3.50 for everyone.

A pre-game show featuring the Australian rock group, Air Supply, will begin a concert at 6:30. During the time before the game starts at 7:30, there will be several parachute drops into the stadium.

Fans can still purchase, up until 3 p.m. Tuesday, advance tickets for $2 at these sites throughout the metropolitan St. Louis area: SIUE student center; St. Louis U. gym on West Pine; Earl's Sporting Goods, 19th and Cleveland; Mendoza's Sporting Goods, 2740 Madison; Granite City; Shwarz Drug, Edwardsville; Collinsville Sports Store, 210 Vandavia; Curt Smith Sports, 10 E. Main, Belleville; Twellman's for Kicks; and Black's Sporting Goods, 540 E. Broadway, Alton.

COLLEGE RANKINGS
1. U. of San Francisco (14-0-2); 2. Alabama A&M (9-0-2); 3. U. of Connecticut (15-1-0); 4. Philadelphia Textile (10-0-1); 5. Indiana U. (13-2-1); 6. Rhode Island U. (12-0-0); 7. UCLA (14-1-3); 8. Appalachian State (12-1-0-9); 9. St. Louis U. (10-4-2-9); 10. Penn State (13-0-1-1); 11. Cornell U. (8-1-1); 12. U. of Wisconsin-Milwaukee (11-2-3); 13. Columbia U. (10-1-1); 14. West Virginia (11-1-1); 15. Southern Methodist U. (9-1-2); 16. U. of N. Carolina (14-2-0); 17. SIUE-Edwardsville (9-6-2); 18. San Jose State (11-2-2); 19. Cleveland State (13-3-2); 20. Old Dominion U. (10-2-0).

Women's touch football here

ST. LOUIS — It's called football with a "touch" of class, as approximately 30 teams from across the United States and Canada will compete for 1980 "Super Bowl" honors at the Micholob Light-NTFL Women's Touch Football Championships, set for Nov. 7-9 at Fenton City Park here.

"We've had great response to this tournament in past years," said Preston Fleishmann, president of the National Touch Football League, "and considering that one of the hometown favorites (the Steelers of St. Louis) are vying for their fifth consecutive championship, we think this year's tournament will be just as exciting."

"I hope it's not too exciting," said Carol Kelleher, a 31-year-old physical education teacher who has led Johnny Mac's Steelers to an awesome 36-0 win-loss record in the four years she's quarterbacked the club. "I'm getting too old and slow," said Kelleher with a laugh. "And besides, last year's championship game (a 13-7 come-from-behind win) was exciting enough for me."

Two games are scheduled on Friday, Nov. 7, at 7:00 and 8:30 p.m., with Saturday's action scheduled from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. The Micholob Light-NTFL women's touch football championships will feature the top teams emerging from the winners' and consolation brackets — is set for 2 p.m. Sunday. "I've never worked with a better athlete," said Steelers' Coach Bob Steele of Kelleher who, despite her on-the-field accomplishments (she has a career pass-completion percentage of 62 percent in the sport dominated by the aerial game) and impressive team record, has yet to achieve the frame of counterparts "Broadway Joe" Namath, or Terry Bradshaw of the NFL's Pittsburgh Steelers. "Any media exposure the team receives is only important if it helps publicize the sport," said Kelleher, who has been the subject of numerous local feature stories, in addition to having her "in-action" photo from the '78 Nationals published in sports illustrated. "We're attracting more and more college teams from women's intramural programs, but one problem is people don't realize that our game is just as safe and perhaps more exciting than football," said Kelleher. "Our biggest shot in the arm came this year when Micholob Light decided to sponsor the National Touch Football Championships. Corporate sponsorship has had a stabilizing effect on the other NFL programs and should add credibility to the women's league concept as well."

The Micholob light-NTFL women's touch football championships — sponsored locally by Grey Eagle Distributors, Inc., local distributor of Anheuser-Busch products — are open to all interested women's touch football teams. Entries will be accepted through October 31, and further information is available by contacting Carol Kelleher at 414-332-6186.

playoffs and we can have a winning record I think it will be a well played, close game." North must win if it hopes to keep its faint playoff hopes alive. But even with a win, Saturday afternoon, when the IHSA announces the choices for its at-large playoff berths, might not be happy for Wyrostek. Because of the complicated points system used by the IHSA, to determine the at-large berths, the Steelers might be left out in the cold. "All the good statistics in the world don't make a bit of difference," said Wyrostek. "If we don't have the points, we don't get in."

Points are awarded to teams on the basis of their opponents' records. At the end of the season, teams get 24 points for each victory over a team with a winning record, 16 points for each victory over a team with a .500 record, and eight points for each victory over a team with a losing record. If North beats Edwardsville, it will finish the season with 78 points — not a very high number. "There were about 30 schools in the running for 18 at-large berths going into this weekend," said North Athletic Director Bryan Wilkinson. "We just have to hope that about half of them lose."

LEARNING EARLY. Three members of the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville basketball team demonstrated basic skills to members of the Tree House pre-school group recently in Glen Carbon. The Cougars, coached by Jim Dudley, will open their season Nov. 29 at Edwardsville, Ky., when they take part in the Bellarmine College tournament. SIUE opened basketball practice Oct. 15 and will make its home debut Wednesday, Dec. 3, when Kentucky Wesleyan comes to Edwardsville High gym. Shown here, the SIUE players are, from left: 6-11 Joe Pickowitz, Al McCarron and Scott Kabbes.

Wyatt lending her talents

By Debbie Freund
For the Press-Record
EDWARDSVILLE — Beth Wyatt started playing field hockey because she was bored and all of her friends were doing it. Now she is the starting left inner forward for the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville field hockey team.

"Wyatt has just started to bloom for us. She is moving full speed ahead and everything she has worked so hard on all season has started coming together," said Cougar Coach Diana Hedrick.

Wyatt has scored eight goals this season for the Cougars, and six of the eight have been in the last two weeks. "I guess my greatest accomplishment was when I scored both goals against the University of Missouri St. Louis (UMSL) and we won 2-0," said Wyatt.

The junior is a Granite City South High School graduate where she played all four years as fullback for the Warriors.

"She really plays her front line position well for us as she moves smoothly from defense to offense, and is very supportive in the play around her," said Hedrick.

"My goal for the season is to earn our way to nationals, and of course, to beat Eastern," said Wyatt. The Cougars will play host to the National Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women tournament, which will be held at the field on Bluff Road Nov. 19-22.

"Wyatt is just a very coachable player and is also very good on defense. We could easily move her back to defense if injury caused us to, but her offense is great also, so we like to keep her on the front line," said Hedrick.

"I felt physically weak at the beginning of the season, but now I feel stronger every day. I feel like I'm playing a lot better, but with still a lot of room for improvement, especially on defense," said Wyatt. She was out due to illness the end of last season.

The Cougars lost to arch rival, Eastern, recently, 2-0, but they will have another chance this weekend to beat the women Panthers. Left inner Beth Wyatt says she will be giving it everything that she has to make SIUE come out on top.

COME ON DOWN!

Regardless of political party, you're all winners at Church's.

AMERICA CHOOSES CHURCH'S!

That's right. Over a million times a day, chicken lovers across America choose Church's® Fried Chicken. And not just on election day, but every day of the year!

Our winning platform is simple: Church's promises you the freshest, biggest, best-tasting fried chicken in town, at a price that's easy to swallow. That's not just this year's campaign promise—it's the pledge we've built our reputation on for 20 years. And the same goes for our hot, buttery-tasting corn-on-the-cob, creamy cole slaw, golden french fries, spicy jalapeño peppers, and delicious apple and pecan pies.

So stop by your neighborhood Church's today and choose the chicken and fixin's of your choice. And to prove this is not just another political promise, we've gotten together to offer you these three special savings. It's our way of saying, "Thanks, America" for your vote of confidence.

Concert here by Chorale

The Concert Chorale from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will begin its 15th season Sunday, Nov. 9, with a program of "varied choral art" at the Nameoki

United Methodist Church in Granite City. The 8 p.m. concert will be under the direction of Leonard Van Camp, professor of music at SIUE and founder of the international award-winning choir.

Three choruses from Handel's Messiah, including the "Hallelujah Chorus," will be featured in the concert.

Three of the numbers to be performed speak of "the beauties and benefits of music." "Musica Dei donum optimi" by Lassus, "The Singers" by Kent Newbury, and "Who Hath a Right to Sing" by Lloyd Pfautsch.

"A composition by the romanticist Felix Mendelssohn will be presented right after the intermission, when an instrumental ensemble will accompany tenor soloist Gary Metz, seven other soloists and the Chorale in eight parts, singing "Ave Marie," Van Camp said.

The program will conclude with a double choir composition by Jacob Handl accompanied by strings, a Russian antiphonal number, "Sing We Noel," and a spiritual, "The Welcoming Table."

The concert is open to the public, free of charge. A free-will offering will be taken. The church is at Pontoon Road and Murdock Avenue.

GRANITE CITY STUDENTS who will be performing with the SIUE Concert Chorale in the choir's first concert of the year Sunday, Nov. 9, include, from the left, front: Joan Fabisher, Jennifer Miles and Mary Peters; rear: Richard Kindle, Dan Vinzer, Doug Ferguson, Wayne Miles and Andy Bartling. The Chorale will present a program of sacred music at 8 p.m. Nov. 9 at Nameoki United Methodist Church, Pontoon Road and Murdock Avenue.

Book fair, sale to aid APA pet shelter

The Association for Protection of Animals (APA) will sponsor a book fair and white elephant sale from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 11, at the VFW Hall, 204 Washington Ave.

All proceeds will be used to help defray cost of installing a heating unit at the APA pet shelter and aid the continuation of interior work, a spokesman advised.

Many books and numerous small appliances will be offered at the sale, together with knick-knacks, drapes and curtains, among other items.

Of special interest to collectors will be an antique iron bed and an antique radio, according to Carol Wideman and JoAnn Hommert, APA co-presidents.

The APA building is located on Old Alton Road. The basic structure was completed with donations from APA members and gifts from the general public, but the interior walls still have to be finished and equipment must be purchased.

chased, the officers said. No clothing will be offered, nor will items be sold prior to the sale hours, the sponsors said.

BETTER BUSINESS BUREAU WILL MOVE
The office of the Better Business Bureau serving eastern Missouri and southern Illinois will be closed Friday, Oct. 31, its moving day. On that day, the offices of the better Business Bureau will be moved to new quarters at 440 Mansion House Center, St. Louis.

The new office, on the third floor, will be open as usual on Monday, Nov. 3, to receive complaints and inquiries. BBB telephone numbers will remain the same as at present. The new mailing address of the bureau will be 440 Mansion House Center, St. Louis 63102. The office for the past 10 years was located in Suite 410, Syndicate Trust Building, 915 Olive St.

Tootsie roll drive Friday and Saturday

The Knights of Columbus Council 1098 of Granite City will hold the 11th annual state-wide Tootsie Roll Drive for the mentally retarded citizens of the state on Friday and Saturday.

A spokesman said that after the candy sale, 10 percent of the profits will be donated to the state-wide "leadmobile," which tests children for lead poisoning that can lead to brain damage, particularly in children.

The remaining 90 percent will be used in the Quad-City area for projects and programs to benefit the mentally retarded.

The workers will wear bright yellow vests which are readily identifiable and will be giving Tootsie Rolls away for a donation of any amount, large or small.

Harry Hadley and T.A. Feeler are chairman and co-chairman, respectively, of the drive and will be assisted by other Knights and their wives.

Poster contest announced

Harold E. Briggs announces a poster contest sponsored by the State Council on Nutrition (ISCN). The theme of the contest is "Nutrition Awareness" or "Promotion of Good Eating Habits."

The contest is open to all kindergarten through eighth grade students in Madison County in both the public and parochial schools. Posters will be sent to the regional superintendent's office by the school that the student attends.

Posters must be in the Regional Superintendents office by Friday, Jan. 16, 1981.

Statewide winners in each division will be able to bring their parents and friends to Springfield at the expense of the Illinois State Council on Nutrition. Stay overnight, visit with the Governor in his office, and meet the Representatives and Senators from their districts.

Students' district jazz competition

High school students from Southern Illinois will converge on Belleville Area College on Saturday for the District VI jazz festival. Young musicians will rehearse all day, beginning at 9 a.m., under the direction of Karen French of Chicago and Master Sergeant Carl Popodak, director of the Jazz Ensemble of the Air Force Band of Mid-America.

Clinics in improvisation teaching techniques and "mike-ing" techniques will be conducted by Steve Schenk, chairman of Webster College's music department, and Neil Conley of the Golden Eagle Recording Studio in Collinsville.

A concert will be the culmination of the day's work. The 4 p.m. performance will be in the old gym at BAC and is open to the public at no charge. In addition to the young musicians who were selected for the District VI jazz band and swing choir, the concert will feature the Air Force Jazz Ensemble.

For some of the students, the concert will mark the end of their participation in competitive auditions. Others have a chance to be selected for the All-State Jazz Band and Choir.

Students with the highest audition scores are chosen from each district and invited to participate in the state conference scheduled for January at Chicago.

Navy medal for Sgt. Larry Lee

Marine Sgt. Larry G. Lee, the son of Loy and Ruby Singleton, 2820 Lincoln Ave., has been awarded the Navy Achievement Medal.

He was cited for superior performance of duty during February and March, 1980, while serving as the training noncommissioned officer (NCO) for Marine Attack Squadron 511, based at the El Toro Marine Corps Air Station, Santa Ana, Cal.

While the Squadron was preparing for a nuclear weapons acceptance inspection, Lee attended classes, completed numerous correspondence courses and acted as the corporal of the guard in the Nuclear Weapons Security Platoon.

We also instructed guard members, accomplished associated administrative tasks and generally contributed the greatest single effort toward the squadron's successful nuclear safety program. All these duties were in addition to his regular duties of administering the squadron's basic training program and acting as the education NCO.

Lee joined the Marine Corps in January, 1977.

ADDRESS IN ERROR

Louis D. Martin, 42, who was charged with fighting last week, does not reside at 1844 Delmar Ave., the address listed in official reports, the resident of that address said this week. The occupant said Martin moved from that address several years ago.

DeMolays install Richard Miller

The James Stuart Chapter, Order of DeMolays, installed junior line officers were installed publicly at the Masonic Temple last week by the Granite City Court of Chevaliers.

Richard E. Miller, installed as master counselor, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Miller. He attends Granite City High School, South where he is president of the senior class and vice president of the Student Council.

20-year record of circuit clerk is issue in Portell-Hardin campaign

WILLARD V. PORTELL

A sixth four-year term as clerk of the circuit court is being sought Nov. 4 by Willard V. "Butch" Portell, Collinsville Democrat. He is a former Granite Cityan.

Opposing him is the Republican candidate, William C. Hardin, 43, of Godfrey, operator of Bill's True Value Hardware, Hobbies and Crafts Store in East Alton.

A lifelong resident of Madison County, Hardin is a past president of the Eastgate Merchants Association and is active in church programs.

Portell, 62 years old, bases his reelection campaign on the efficiency achieved by his office during a period in which the Third Judicial Circuit's work volume has expanded markedly. He favors making the circuit clerk position appointive, with closer ties to the statewide court system.

A Navy veteran—and a veteran of 28 years of service at Madison County Courthouse—Portell was on the sheriff's staff for four years and then the county treasurer's staff for four years before being elected as circuit clerk in 1970. He has been re-elected every four years since then.

Born in Elvins, Mo., he was one of a family of 11 children. He moved from Granite City to the Collinsville area in 1970.

Portell has lived up to campaign pledges by disclosing his personal income tax information each year. He served as president of the Illinois Court Clerks Association in 1972 and continues to be a leader in deliberations of that group.

His affiliations include St. Peter and Paul Catholic Church in Collinsville, Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Granite City, the Knights of Columbus, Holy Name Society, American Legion, Moose, Eagles and Elks. He is a past Democratic precinct committeeman.

Portell's interests include fellowship with professional athletes, and he annually serves as co-chairman of a celebrity golf tournament that raises funds to combat cystic fibrosis in this metropolitan area.

Court clerical services are provided in many communities around the county as well as at the county seat in Edwardsville. The yearly budget of his office is more than a half-million dollars.

Portell's staff of more than 50 has handled an increasing number of felony and misdemeanor cases, civil suits, juvenile offenses and dissolutions of marriage.

Madison County is second only to Cook County among Illinois counties in the number of major law cases filed and adjudicated. The overall yearly caseload exceeds 24,000.

He has devoted considerable time to developing plans for state and federal programs to expand court clerical services, including the monitoring of delinquent child support payments.

Portell comments, "During the time I have served as circuit clerk, our financial operations have changed from a deficit of $22,000 to a 'profit' of $400,000."

"I have grown up with the system, and am completely informed about all phases of it. I feel I am still well qualified for the position, and would like to serve in it for one more term."

"I have always had the backing of labor endorsements. Newspapers throughout the county—with one exception—have always recommended that I be nominated and elected."

"We are constantly updating our office when new systems are advisable. With more adequate appropriations, we could move even faster in utilizing modern, automated equipment."

"We comply fully with the Local Records Act of 1961, as revised. Satellite court services are offered for maximum convenience to the public. We set a fee record during the past year. And we are well thought of throughout the Illinois courts."

Hardin feels that the circuit clerk's record is unsatisfactory and that, if elected next week, he could bring quick improvements.

The Republican candidate says, "I have never sought public office before, but I became concerned over the lack of leadership in Madison County and the stranglehold that the Democratic Party has on the citizens of our county."

WILLIAM C. HARDIN

"I believe this is an opportunity to offer my services to the people and to help bring responsive and accountable government back to the Courthouse."

"My top priorities for my term of office will be to upgrade the efficiency in the circuit clerk's office, including streamlining the record-keeping as set forth by the administrative office of the Illinois court system."

"I plan to start computerization and microfilming of records in order to keep up with the increasing caseload in the county."

Hardin contends that the clerk office could have moved faster in such directions and that this would have expedited the procedures and performance, resulting in more convenient and prompt services to the public.

Active in the Mormon church, Hardin has owned and operated his own business "since I was 13 years old."

He adds, "My wife, Donna, and I have four children, William, 17, Donna, 14, Ian, 8, and Melissa, 6."

"Although only 43, I have 30 years of retail business experience. I graduated from Alton High School in 1956 and attended Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, where I completed my freshman and sophomore years. I concentrated on business and management courses."

"Most people in the area know me as the operator of Bill's Hobby Center. While I was located in Upper Alton for 18 years, I assisted in the promotion of that area with the Upper Alton Businessmen's Association."

"After we located in Eastgate Plaza, I was the president of the Eastgate Merchants Association for two years."

"I believe it is the responsibility of every citizen to be involved in the political process of the national, state and local governments. That is the only way we can remain free and exercise our right to good and responsible government."

"I love America and the principles for which it stands."

"I thank God that I live in this land, the choice above all others."

Scholarships offered

Scholarships for the 1981-82 school year are available to children of veterans of the armed forces who have served in World War I, World War II, the Korean Conflict or the Vietnam Era.

The scholarship for the child of a veteran of the Vietnam Era is new this year, due to legislation enacted by the 81st General Assembly of Illinois.

One scholarship for each of the wars is available in Madison County. These four scholarships cover tuition for a period of four years in any course of study at the University of Illinois, any of its three campuses —

Urbana-Champaign, Chicago Center or the Medical Center.

These scholarships are awarded primarily on the basis of scores made on the ACT examinations, with preference given to children of veterans whose veteran parent is deceased or disabled.

Application forms may be obtained from high school counselors or from Harold E. Briggs, Regional Superintendent of Schools, 201 Hillsboro, Edwardsville, Illinois. The deadline for applicants to file with the Regional Superintendent is Dec. 1.

Presidential letter given to GC woman

Dolores Fechte, a procurement clerk at the St. Louis Area Support Center, was awarded a Presidential Letter of Recognition for the adoption of a suggestion she submitted which simplified administrative procedures in the filing of maintenance service orders.

Her suggestion was to initiate a system which serves both as a history file and locator file and resulted in an estimated annual savings to the government of $25,856.

Letters signed by President Carter are presented to government employees whose cost-savings suggestions result in a minimum annual savings of $5,000.

Mrs. Fechte received her award from Maj. Gen. Emil L. Konopnicki, commander of the Troop Support and Aviation Materiel Readiness Command, at special ceremonies at the command headquarters, 4300 Goodfellow Blvd. in St. Louis.

Mrs. Fechte and her husband, Robert, who live at 1540 Rodger Ave., are the parents of two sons.

Kermit joins celebrities in supporting UNICEF drive

Quad-City area residents this Halloween are being asked to join UNICEF's fight against world hunger by giving generous to trick-or-treaters for UNICEF.

Kermit the Frog, Liv Ullmann, Danny Kaye and scores of other celebrities will join with UNICEF this fall in a nationwide appeal to "Fight World Hunger From Your Doorstep."

On radio and television broadcasts and in a massive mail campaign, the Muppet superstar will be inviting adults and children to join him in supporting local UNICEF fund-raising activities.

"Hunger shouldn't be kid stuff," Kermit says, asking his myriad avid fans to give generously to Halloween collections and benefits to provide food, medicine and clean water for millions of children around the world.

According to Jim Henson, creator of the Muppets and final authority on their activities, this is the first time that Kermit and he have associated themselves with a cause. The pair recently flew to UN Headquarters in New York to accept Kermit's official designation as chairman of the 1980 National UNICEF Day campaign.

Screen and state star Liv Ullmann, newly named first woman Ambassador of Good Will for UNICEF, and First Ambassador Danny Kaye are among the other celebrities supporting the UN Children's Fund's fall campaigns. They will be giving concerned Americans to give generously when trick-or-treaters come to their doors, and to purchase UNICEF greeting cards for
